

Did This Elephant See Pink People?

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI)—Queen Tut, a three and one-half ton elephant, may have seen pink people.

Caretakers at Forest Park Zoo in Fort Worth found a man giving the beast a bucket of beer. He was taken to jail and charged with malicious mischief.

Lawrence Curtis, director of the zoo, said he didn't know if the beer would have any effect on Queen Tut, but he had handlers give her several gallons of black coffee just to be safe. "It's pretty hard to determine if it made her drunk," Curtis said. "Did you ever try to make an elephant walk a straight line?"

LINK WITH AMERICAS UP TO PUBLIC--GREEN

No Quick Ottawa Decision

By PETER BRUTON

The federal government wants to get the feeling of public opinion before deciding whether or not Canada should join the Organization of American States, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said yesterday.

At the same time he denied knowledge of Ottawa reports that Canada was withholding joining the OAS as urged by President Kennedy because of the possibility of Castro-like revolutions in some South American countries in the next few months. (See Page 32.)

'BIG STEP'

Mr. Green made his views known at a press conference here shortly after his arrival yesterday afternoon.

Joining the OAS, he said, would be a big step for Canada to take in foreign affairs.

"I think the Canadian people should be given some time to discuss this question," said Mr. Green. "A decision will not be made for some time."

Mr. Green also said:

● He is strongly opposed to further nuclear tests.

● Canada is doing everything it can to speed up disarmament yet at the same time is keeping up its defence.

● There has been quite a lot of relaxation in world tension in recent months.

● He does not know what the final implications of the Korean revolt will be.

● There is a "reasonable chance" of ironing out the difficulties in Laos.

● No decision has yet been made as to whether nuclear weapons should be allowed on Canadian soil.

● Premier Bennett's two proposals for financing the Columbia River power project don't "make sense."

OBSCURE GOING

Mr. Green said Canada would send an observer to the next meeting of the OAS but that "we want to see the people chew it over" before any decision is made as to Canada's participation.

"It's not a question of having a poll," he said. "But we think it is pretty good business to let the country chew it over."

Asked whether he personally favored Canada joining, Mr. Green said:

"It's pretty dangerous for a cabinet minister to have personal opinions."

ENCOURAGED

The external affairs minister said he was very much encouraged by the way in which disarmament talks were going and said he genuinely believed that the Americans were cutting international tensions.

"There's been quite a relaxation in tensions during the past few months," he said.

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Negro leaders in Alabama's riot-scarred capital vowed Tuesday the next target of inter-racial Freedom Riders will be Mississippi—the hard-core centre of segregation in the South.

Quake Hits Aegean

ATHENS (UPI)—An earthquake apparently centred under the Aegean Sea smashed hundreds of homes in southwest Turkey and the Dodecanese Islands yesterday. No casualties were reported.

The quake hit the area southeast of Athens just before dawn and sent thousands of residents and tourists fleeing into the streets as buildings crashed. The tremor toppled the steeple of the Cathedral of Rhodes.

HOUSES RUINED

Reports from Izmir said hundreds of houses at Mar maris, Ulad and Milas on the southwestern coast of Turkey were destroyed.

The seismographs at Istanbul Technical University were knocked out, making it difficult to assess the extent of the damage. The observatory at Basle, Switzerland, registered a "strong" earthquake somewhere in Turkey.

ROYAL YACHT

King Paul of Greece and Britain's Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were aboard a yacht anchored off the island of Rhodes at the time the tremors were reported. A spokesman said the quake was not felt aboard the yacht.

Snake Kills British Child

BRISTOL (UPI)—Hilary Brown, 12, died in hospital yesterday of snakebite. She was Britain's first snakebite death in 30 years.

The adder, only poisonous snake in Britain, has killed only eight persons in more than 80 years.

'Don't Let Us Get Soft on Hanging' Protect Society, Not the Criminal

OTTAWA (CP)—"Don't let us get soft on hanging," Earl Rowe said Tuesday night in the Commons during debate on a government bill abolishing the death penalty for unpremeditated murder.

The veteran Progressive Conservative for Dufferin-Simcoe added, "don't let us get soft on the criminal but society." (See Page 5.)

Mr. Rowe said he wondered whether the Commons was being carried away by sentimentality.

"I am more concerned with the death of a lovely child or a mother than with all the criminals who have died on the gallows," he said.

"In the twilight of my career, I'd shudder if I cast my vote for total abolition of the death penalty."

Nobody could tell him that hanging was not a greater deterrent to murder than a prison sentence which might end in as little as 12 years.

Scores of little girls had been raped and murdered, small boys killed and bank clerks shot. Thousands of men lay in Flanders fields for fundamental principles. If a few innocent men had been hanged, they had died in a just cause.

Korean Leader To Tell Story To Kennedy

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The leader of the military junta that seized power in the Republic of Korea last week, Lt. Gen. Chang Do Yung, announced today he would "leave immediately" for the United States to meet with President John F. Kennedy to explain "the purpose and intent" of the military takeover.

Chang made the announcement at a news conference in the chamber of the National Assembly building, now headquarters for the junta.

"On behalf of the people of the entire Republic of Korea,

I intend to leave for the United States immediately for the purpose of explaining to the people and government of the United States the purpose and intent of our military revolution," Chang said in a short statement.

He said he hoped to explain what the revolution hopes to accomplish and will try to "further strengthen close ties between the Republic of Korea and the United States."

AGREEMENT REJECTED

The announcement was made less than 24 hours after the United Nations command said that the 32-member ruling military junta had turned down a draft agreement reached by United Nations commander-in-chief Gen. Carter B. Magruder and Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hui, deputy junta leader, returning the ROK armed forces to complete operational control of Magruder.

Africans, Asians Seek UN Session On Riots in Angola

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—African and Asian nations will demand a United Nations Security Council meeting on Portuguese Angola, a high Asian source said Tuesday.

Reports of thousands of casualties in clashes between Portuguese authorities and Angolans prompted the move for council action, the source added.

In Lisbon, Portugal continued a buildup of arms and men in the West African territory of Angola in an attempt to crush a three-month revolt there.

The cargo ship Luanda prepared to sail with arms and military vehicles to reinforce army units. Reliable sources said the liner Nyasa would leave Sunday with more than 1,000 troops.

The Soviet Union renewed its support for the disident Congolese government of Antoine Gizenga and its demand for the reconvening of the Congo's parliament under protection of friendly United Nations troops.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin said he would demand security council action if any obstacles arose to the parliamentary meetings announced by Gizenga, political heir to the late leftist premier Patrice Lumumba.

Legion Asks Queen To Halt Beer Raids

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A raid by city police morality officers on a branch of the Royal Canadian Legion here Friday prompted a plea for royal intervention.

William Dennis, president of the Byron Branch 533, after consultation with his fellow officers, took the matter to Queen Elizabeth, the patron of the Legion.

He said he telephoned Buckingham Palace and was advised by the Queen's secretary to send a telegram. He was told it would be read and referred with instruction to Governor-General Vanier in Ottawa.

Morality officers carried off 59 cases of beer from the Legion premises in the raid, the third carried out by police in less than two weeks.

The serving of beer by Royal Canadian Legion branches in areas of London annexed Jan. 1 is against the law.

Private Golf Course? No, a Cow Pasture!

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is Jacqueline Kennedy giving President Kennedy a private golf course all his own for his birthday?

No, said the White House Tuesday. The president has four stakes in a cow pasture.

And it isn't costing Mrs. Kennedy a dime.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Halcher discounted a story that Mrs. Kennedy is preparing to present her husband with an abbreviated golf course on his 44th birthday Monday.

"Ridiculous," Halcher said, "and untrue."

Halcher said the president has "hit a few balls" in the cow pasture at his 400-acre rented estate, Glen Ora, near Middleburg, Va. But the closest thing to turning it into a golf course has been the placing of four stakes for Kennedy to aim at, he said.

LET'S TALK

By Rudolf Flesch

Time magazine ran a cover story on the great French architect Le Corbusier, probably the most famous architect of our time.

I looked through the article trying to find a reference to the "modulor," but there was only a sentence or two that didn't say much. And yet, Le Corbusier's "modulor" is one of the most fascinating things I ever came across.

The "modulor" is a system of measure devised by Le Corbusier, which makes it possible to figure out mathematically whether a given design will be aesthetically satisfying. Le Corbusier wrote a book about it and coined the name, but actually the system goes back to the Middle Ages or even to ancient times. It has long been known under the name of the golden section.

Pleasing Harmony

Briefly, the golden section is a certain mathematical proportion that will make a pleasing, harmonious design. For instance, if the windows of a house have height and width in that proportion, they will look "right" to you; if they're taller or wider, they'll look unpleasantly narrow or squat.

The fundamental proportion of the golden section is based on the Fibonacci series, named after a 12th-century Italian mathematician. It consists of numbers so arranged that the next in the series is always the sum of the two preceding ones—like this: 1, 2, 3 (sum of 1 and 2), 5 (sum of 2 and 3), 8 (sum of 3 and 5), 13 (sum of 5 and 8), 21, 34, 55, etc.

In other words, if a rectangle is 3x5 or 5x8, it will look natural, "just right," agreeable to the human eye. (Penguin paperbacks are a handy example of such a design.)

Quite a Literature

There's quite a literature on this whole matter and all its ramifications. Le Corbusier says the "modulor" or golden section is based on the natural forms of plants and animals and corresponds to the average proportions of the human body. That's why, in his opinion, our foot-and-inch measurement system, which is based on the human foot, is superior to the metric system, which is based on an abstraction.

The theory is also known as dynamic symmetry. In the 1920s there were several books about it by the U.S. artist, Jay Hambidge. Hambidge maintained that the golden section can be found in most ancient Greek temples and vases.

Years ago, when I discovered this subject and read some books about it, I was fascinated by the notion that there is a mathematical approach to beauty. It sounds fantastic, but after all, Le Corbusier isn't just a crank, but one of the most renowned artists now alive.

Your Good Health

Give Little Children Quiet Sense of Pride

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, MD

"Dear Dr. Molner: How old should a child be, before he is told to 'go upstairs, get washed and brush your teeth?' I think many children are told to do this too soon.—C.A."

The answer isn't at what age you can tell him to do it, but in being smart enough and loving enough to help him take pride in being able to do these things.

The process starts as soon as a child begins to grab for the soap or wash cloth while you are scrubbing him. You say something like, "Do you want to do it yourself?" and let him have his inquisitive, fumbling, baby-like try at it.

HE DOES IT

For the first several of many times, he soon loses interest. So you go ahead and finish the chore. But one day, as you reach for the soap or cloth, he says, "I do it!"

And he does. You tell him how proud you are of him—even if it leaves smears on his chin, and never even thinks of washing the backs of his hands.

The child will recognize the tone of your voice, the pride in it, the praise. He will begin to feel that by doing things himself, he is getting to be a big boy.

SELF-RELIANCE

That's the moment he really begins to grow up. After that, except for the moments of rebellion that are the birthright of all smart people, he understands, vaguely, the meaning of self-reliance. He likes being able to do things.

You only have to say, "Time to wash up now," and off he'll go, pleased as punch.

It starts early. Giving children a quiet sense of pride does what no amount of ordering ever can.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have had some spotting, and the doctor says I have a polyp at the opening of the womb and should have it removed. What would you advise? I haven't had any spotting since the examination.—Mrs. W. J."

The symptom (spotting) may have stopped just now, but the polyp is still there. Have it removed.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Would you tell me your opinion of using Vitamin E tablets for heart ailments?—W.T."

This theory has not yet produced enough reliable evidence to convince me that it has merit. I reserve the right to change my mind if adequate facts are produced, but so far I haven't seen them.

"Dear Dr. Molner: When I cry for a few minutes or more, my eyes become swollen. What can I do to reduce the swelling?—M. M."

Cold packs should help.

Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev. Mr. Green said he believed there was great value in having heads of states meet "providing they don't quarrel."

"When heads of state quarrel it's much more serious than when foreign ministers quarrel," he observed.

'WONDERFUL JOB'
Mr. Green said the U.S. was attempting to reach agreement on disarmament and that Adlai Stevenson had done a wonderful job for the U.S. as delegate to the United Nations.

The minister said he wouldn't say Canada was any closer to recognizing Red China diplomatically.

"These things change from week to week," he said.

Turning to the Columbia, Mr. Green said Ottawa had negotiated in good faith with B.C. regarding its development and everything in the treaty with the U.S. had been approved by the provincial government.

'ROADBLOCKS'
"We're surprised now that there seem to be so many roadblocks put in the way," said the minister.

He referred to the latest financing proposals put forward by Premier Bennett.

The first was that Ottawa could build the whole works and give the province the $50,000,000 the U.S. will pay for flood control benefits.

"That didn't make much sense," he said.

The second proposal was that B.C. would build the project and that Ottawa would guarantee the cost of power would be less than 4.25 mills.

"And that didn't make much sense," said Mr. Green.

"It would be very tragic for B.C. if it doesn't go ahead," he added. "If it (the project) is killed, then it's a tragedy for the people of B.C."

SUGGESTIONS HIT
Mr. Green also hit out at B.C. suggestions that the surplus power should be exported.

"The whole scheme was devised not to sell downstream power to the Americans," he said.

The minister said that while Canada had not yet made a decision whether to allow nuclear weapons on Canadian soil, there was no question that the nation's defences were being maintained.

He said he did not know whether this question of nuclear weapons would be made this fall.

OTHER EQUIPMENT
"It certainly doesn't have to be made at the present time," he said.

Reporters asked Mr. Green to explain how the Bomarc missile bases now being built could be used if nuclear warheads were not allowed into the country.

"They might have other equipment with them," he said. Mr. Green also said that a lot of defence equipment was bought but that it was hoped it would never be used.

REVIEW KEEN
"Does the Bomarc fall into that category?" he was asked.

"Yes," replied Mr. Green. He said that the decision about nuclear arms depended a lot on what happened on the disarmament question.

"If the world situation gets tough, Canada will have to review its thinking," he said.

Kennedy Trial Seen In Alabama Terror

LONDON (UPI)—America's allies in Europe yesterday pictured the racial crisis in Alabama as "President Kennedy's domestic trial of strength"—a trial that will affect the future of Washington's African policy.

SILENCE BROKEN
Communist newspapers agreed, but in stronger language that referred to "Fascist race agitators," "race pogrom in Alabama" and "worst examples of savagery."

In Moscow, the government newspaper Izvestia broke Soviet press silence on Montgomery with a front page story. It was headlined "Arena of Terror... American Nazis Raising Heads," and included a description of the "Ku Klux Klan reign of terror in Alabama."

'WHITE SAVAGES'
Most reaction was from newspapers, since government officials refused to comment on an American domestic problem.

In Portugal, newspapers criticized the United States for its anti-Portuguese vote in the United Nations while being unable to smash racial barriers at home. One paper said the riots were "the savagery of white responding... to the black savagery of wild beasts on the loose in Angola."

The London Daily Express

said America has no right to comment on Britain's troubles in Rhodesia.

In Tunisia, the Daily Asabah said the riots and Alabama's defiance of Kennedy "are odious and prejudicial to U.S. prestige in Africa, which includes millions of Negroes among its people."

But the angriest outcry came from Berlin, where both Western and Communist publications viewed the Montgomery crisis as a manifestation of the racism that brought Hitler to power.

"People are chased like wild beasts," said the pro-American B.Z. "They are spit upon and bloodily beaten only because they are colored."

"Where? In the United States of America, in the heart of the free world. That's a glaring contradiction."

Negroes, Jews Targets

Hate Drive Launched By U.S. 'Fuehrer'

NEW ORLEANS (UPI)—George Lincoln Rockwell, self-proclaimed fuhrer of the American Nazi party, flew into New Orleans Tuesday to lead a Negro-Jew "hate campaign."

The lanky, cigar-chewing Rockwell, loudly maintaining that the United States should have been on Germany's side in the Second World War, said he and 10 of his "storm troopers" would demonstrate here against the NAACP, the Congress on Racial Equality, and

"Exodus," a film opening to night which depicts the Jewish struggle to create Israel.

He would not tell newsmen how long he planned to remain in the city, or where he was going when he left the airport.

But Rockwell said earlier he planned to meet with some "very high, responsible people" in New Orleans who supported his party. He would not identify them.

His khaki-shirted "storm troopers" were scheduled to arrive here later in a small caravan which originated early Monday in Washington. They were travelling in a car and a Volkswagen bus covered with signs reading, "Lincoln Rockwell's Hate Bus," "We do hate race mixing," and "We hate Jew-Communism."

couraging Communist-inspired agitators" in Alabama.

The steel-helmeted National Guardsmen continued to patrol the streets, but there was a business-as-usual atmosphere about this white-collared city on the banks of the Alabama River.

TROOPS ALERTED
The closest thing approaching a conflict between segregationists and troops during the past 24 hours was a brief "incident" Monday night at the downtown Greyhound bus station.

About 100 additional National Guardsmen rushed to the station when reports spread that whites were gathering at the station to intercept another group of Freedom Riders said to be on the way.

ORDERED OUT
Five white men were ordered from the station after one of them told guard commander Maj. Gen. Henry Graham: "We've come to meet them niggers."

A former member of Montgomery's reserve police force was arrested and charged with beating two NBC newsmen, Maurice Levy and H. W. Riser. He was identified as Claude V. Henley, 37.

COMPLAINT FILED
Riser and Levy filed a complaint against Henley, who had resigned from the reserve force less than two weeks ago. They said he directed the attack on them when the first Freedom Riders emerged from the bus station on Saturday.

The self-styled "American Nazi" riding in a "hate bus" were rushed through Montgomery without stopping yesterday. A sheriff's car and National Guard troops met them at the city limits and escorted them through town.

STANDING BY
Mississippi Adjutant General W. P. Wilson said he was prepared to put 300 troops in action within 30 minutes in the event of racial disturbances. "Men have their uniforms, arms and ammunition packed, just in case, and they could move out at the drop of a hat," said Wilson.

Confusing Facts

MR. GEORGE CHATTERTON, the Conservative candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election has been accused by his opponents of deliberately misrepresenting the Liberal Party's position regarding Canada's alliance with NATO and NORAD.

In an attempt to discredit Mr. Chatterton, the Victoria evening newspaper quotes him as stating that Liberal leader Lester Pearson is now "advocating Canada's withdrawal from NATO".

Mr. Chatterton did not make any such statement. His actual words, as reported in the Daily Colonist of last Friday were: "On the one hand he (Mr. Pearson) suggests that we should join the OAS, and on the other hand he suggests certain withdrawals from NATO and NORAD."

In drawing attention to this obvious inconsistency in the Liberal policy, Mr. Chatterton was referring to the Liberal Party platform which emerged from its national rally earlier this year which rejected the policy of nuclear weapons being under the control of any single nation within the NATO alliance. This is, of course, exactly what the position is now with the United States in actual control of the operative nuclear deterrent force stationed in Europe under the framework of the North Atlantic alliance.

Would this mean that if the Liberals came to power they would withdraw from NATO until such time as the United States relaxed its controls? If they intend holding to their declared policy they would have no alternative.

Mr. Chatterton's reference to NORAD—conveniently ignored by his opponents—was equally to the point. On January of this year Mr. Pearson called for an immediate end to the Canada-United States NORAD partnership, despite the fact that he and his party had joined the government in approving the defence agreement in June, 1958.

For some time the Conservative candidate has been stressing local affairs in the by-election campaign to the despair of his Liberal rival who has been calling on him to discuss national and international matters. However, as soon as Mr. Chatterton does so, his opponents call foul.

Mr. Chatterton has underlined the weakness of the Liberal policy and its numerous inconsistencies. No doubt Liberal candidate David Groos is hoping that Mr. Chatterton will go back to his "home" front campaign again—or at least will stop confusing him with facts.

Weigh It Well

IT WOULD be a mistake and a pity if city council, in a burst of enthusiasm over a new idea, were to throw away its plans for extension of Blanshard Street without the fullest consideration.

Alderman Austin Curtis has cited several reasons for believing that it would be to the city's benefit to use Quadra Street instead as a second highway entrance to Victoria, and Mayor Percy Scurrell and Alderman Geoffrey Edgell, public works chairman, have quickly—perhaps hastily—agreed with him.

In making his case for the use of Quadra, Alderman Curtis has stressed the advantages but not the disadvantages of using that street as the second main highway entrance, and he has emphasized the disadvantages but not the advantages of Blanshard Street extension. Council's duty, plainly, is to consider the whole picture.

The disadvantages of Quadra include that, although it serves as a highway connection, it is chiefly residential in character; that three elementary schools front on it, and that for these reasons, it cannot properly be allowed to become a speedway. It does not lead as conveniently from a tourist's point of view to downtown Victoria as Blanshard; nor would it appear to fit in as well with a system of one-way streets in downtown Victoria, which is one of the proposed functions of Blanshard as a highway entrance.

The advantages of extending and to some extent rerouting Blanshard include that residential development could be set back from the road for a considerable part of its length, ensuring its continued utility as highway, and also that rerouting in the Hillside area would remove some of the blight in that neighborhood and provide opportunity for improvement and redevelopment.

Victoria, it is true, might for the present achieve a saving of $800,000 or more by discarding its Blanshard Street plans. But it is too soon to give up hope that the provincial government will help the city pay for the Blanshard extension. And a mistake now could be costly and difficult to rectify later. Council should take time to weigh the new proposal well.

He Stoops to Conquer

GROWING desperate as the date of the four federal by-elections draws near the Liberals are grasping at any and every straw they think will help to defeat the Conservatives. The current theme now is that Finance Minister Fleming is withholding the budget until after the elections are held and is thus guilty of playing politics with the national interest.

The fact that by creating this as an issue they, the Liberals, are making a political football of the budget seems to escape them. Talk about the kettle and the pot!

The Liberal leader, Mr. Lester Pearson, goes further. He says the government is holding back the budget because it intends to increase taxes.

Budget secrets are never given out in advance and no one knows what the next budget will contain, least of all the leader of the opposition. But to suit his campaign purposes Mr. Pearson does not hesitate in his attempt to delude the voters by pretending that he does know.

Listen to his words, which deliberately project his invention as a fact: "The Conservatives refuse to tell you before you vote what these tax increases will be."

Since the contents of the budget have not been disclosed to him, and may not yet be completed, that statement is political dishonesty. And it comes from Mr. Lester Pearson, the one-time Beau Sabreur of the international realm, from whom a more respectable sense of responsibility has been expected. How the mighty doth fall.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and scaling waz..."

By TOM TAYLOR

ARE you afraid of your butcher, your baker, or the glamorous girl behind the tobacco counter? If not, you are very unusual. This intriguing conclusion is drawn by a consumer research group and piped to the world by a BBC program. And further, the deduction is that men are even more afraid of shopping than women.

There's a dent in this theory to begin with. Who ever heard of a woman being afraid to shop? Why, shopping is an eternal feminine delight, else I've gone through life with closed eyes and ears.

There can be no fear at a shop, to a woman when she goes shopping, therefore, unless only the fear she won't find something that fits. As for blanching?

She welcomes the excursion.

The male part in the shopping business, admittedly, is a different proposition. If you doubt this watch the husbands behind the go-carts in a supermarket. I would scarcely call it fright, though; boredom would be much nearer the mark.

It is said also that when on his own a man spends only a few minutes making a purchase and this shows how scared he is. Were this writer not a male and anxious to be polite to his feminine readers he would cite this as evidence of the superior will-power of his fellows.

But since he is a male he won't make such a claim.

A man is more direct with his personal shopping, nevertheless. He knows what he wants, usually, and doesn't hum and haw or let stray salesladies tempt him. He gets what he's after and leaves, pronto.

As a result, sometimes, a man may be accused by his better half of taking the first thing offered to him, but this is a silly notion, not to be admitted for it would support the BBC assertion that he's afraid and so grabs his package and runs.

True enough possibly the glamorous girl behind the counter might deflate his ego and make him take cover, but not the butcher or the baker. It is the latter indeed who might be cowed by the customer.

There is only one kind of shop—perhaps two—where the male shops himself to be as easily tempted as any woman; or where he meanders around "just looking, thank you."

This is in a bookshop or a hardware store, places perfectly made for lingering. Incidentally, the help-yourself practice so prevalent in shops now forces even a man to linger; it's often the device of a job to find what you're looking for.

Man's alleged shopping fears are said to stem from his sugar candy days, a most interesting theory.

When a child goes into a shop to get sweets, you see, he is sure to choose the opposite of what the shopkeeper suggests. He has a dread the shopkeeper will sell him something he doesn't want to buy and this dread lasts into his adult life.

Not too complimentary to the shopkeeper, but that's how the consumer research argument runs.

I can scarcely buy that one, though, even if a psychiatrist would probably say this is because I don't like it, the aftermath of my childhood days. But it's too much like the thesis that youthful belief in Santa Claus will make you hate your parents when you discover they've been kidding you.

And that, of course, is nonsense.

Anyway, little girls buy candy as well as little boys, and when they grow up into the bargain. And the woman isn't born who shrinks from shopping because she is afraid. For if she's afraid she's the bravest of mortals, judging by the eagerness with which she will breach the ramparts of any shop. She's a VC winner a thousand times over.

Societ Agriculture

The Food Queues Form Again

By ISAAC DEUTSCHER—First of Four Articles

THE conflicts over Laos and Cuba, the deadlock in negotiations over the nuclear test ban, and even the triumphs of Soviet cosmopolitics, have not been able to overshadow, in Soviet eyes, the critical condition in which Soviet farming finds itself.

From Moscow and other cities the reappearance of queues outside food shops has been followed by new stagnation and even decline. The concessions to the peasantry have proved inadequate. The stimulus they gave to farming was enough to produce the upward swing of 1953-58 but is now more or less exhausted. A reformulation of policy is overdue; but government and party are not ready for it. Meantime, economists and planners are debating publicly the ways and means by which further progress may be secured; and their discussion provides fresh information about the state of the rural economy and some dilemmas of Soviet domestic policy.

The obstacles to a rationalization of Soviet agriculture are not new. The rigidity and stupidity of bureaucracy and the conservatism and backwardness of the farmers.

Brave as are the faults of bureaucracy, these have been made even worse, in these last two years, by the government's indecision, which contrasts strikingly with its earlier initiative and verve in reforming agricultural policy.

The officials who deal directly with the farmers are disorientated by contradictory instructions. They are expected to be liberal and illiberal at the same time. They are told that they must not interfere with the autonomous working of the farms and they are warned that they must not allow the farmers too much rope.

They are urged to offer incentives for higher productivity and are denied the means to make the incentive real. The result is an extraordinary muddle.

In some areas, for instance, the kolkhozniki consume nearly all their increased income and refuse to make the necessary investments; in others officialdom compels them to re-invest so much that all too little is left for consumption.

To take another example: In the Caucasus the size of privately owned cattle herds has nearly doubled since Stalin's days, whereas the collectively owned herds have not grown at all. In the Ukraine, on the contrary, the management of the collective farms have bought up from private hands, that is from their own members, all the cattle they could get; but as they did not have enough accommodation and fodder for the increased herds, much of the cattle has perished. Khrushchev himself has described the waste of millions of sheep while they were being transported to Central Asia.

But to have to consume, and also to be held up on the highway by derrick, is too much. (Copyright, Canada Wide)

A Changing Balance

ON May 31 Mr. Kennedy will be in the French capital on an official visit. His planned talks will have great political significance.

Certain commentators have given a wrong slant to the event. They have asserted that the American president's trip to France, after having invited Prime Minister Macmillan and Chancellor Adenauer to see him in Washington, was a sign of discrimination between allies.

This is false. General de Gaulle is head of state like Mr. Kennedy. The same is not the case for the two other world leaders, International customs would only permit the U.S. chief executive to call on the Queen of England or Mr. Lubke. Hence it was much easier and time-saving to see their respective prime ministers in America.

This fact by no means diminishes the importance of Mr. Kennedy's gesture. As a young man he wants to be the first to greet his elder. His decision honors a historical figure who even in the eyes of his enemies is one of the strongest personalities of our time, and whose world-wide prestige has reached an all-time high with the events of those last weeks.

The American president, who has a sense of greatness, is furthermore a personal admirer of General de Gaulle.

Thoughtful people on both shores of the Atlantic are worried about the outcome of the meeting. It is true, every negotiation holds a risk. Nevertheless, the risk is small.

Foolhardy Geometry

From The Winnipeg Free Press

THE solicitude of Manitoba's minister of agriculture for the dairy industry and the colorblind is touching.

It is not enough that margarine served in Manitoba restaurants must be either white, dark yellow or cheddar orange. Now the provincial government has dictated that it must also be served in little triangles to distinguish it from butter (as if the color is not sufficient) which is usually served in little squares.

Mr. Hutton is reported to have said, concerning the government's foray into culinary geometry: "This way, everyone will know what they're eating."

In other words, the minister is saying that, as far as most people's taste is concerned, margarine and butter are little different. This is something that most people have known all along, but few thought that the minister of agriculture would be foolhardy enough to admit it.

The Packsack

By GREGORY CLARK

SHOULD we not require heavy equipment such as is used for construction to be moved on highways and throughways between the hours of 1 a.m. and 6 a.m.?

At a comparatively small outlay in overtime pay, the owners of these great clumsy machines that now obstruct our highways, especially in the vicinity of growing communities, for nobody knows how many man-hours of time, could have them moved during those hours when traffic is at its low ebb.

If you complain to an engineer or construction man about the abuse of fast thruways by these huge derricks, earth movers and shovels thumping along at 30 miles an hour, backing traffic up miles behind them in a two-hour run, they are horrified and shocked. Do we not realize the importance of major construction to the economy? Have we not heard of the great One Year Plan upon which they are embarked?

A banker says we should not fret about imposing hardships on the construction or trucking industry. Raise the licence fees, make 'em pay overtime for night moving, it's all being passed on to the consumer anyway.

Rats in Park

Beacon Hill Park is badly infested with rats. I have seen as many as eight rats around Goodacre Lake in one day; they decimate the tiny ducklings; they are tame and will appear at a distance of 15 feet. Poison or traps cannot be used, but a .22 revolver, loaded with fine shot could be used safely.

There should be numerous quail around the park, but as they nest on the ground, their eggs and young are easy prey for rats.

Another offender is the seagull. I saw a gull pick up a month-old duckling and fly off with it.

I have noted quail feathers at the foot of a tree, this will indicate that a hawk or an owl also takes their quota.

Claim Challenged

It is most regrettable that half-truths and false statements have been broadcast by the responsible labor leaders about the East Indian labor conditions in the province. The Daily Colonist splashes on its front page a heading in large type, "East Indians Slaving in B.C. Mills," and further on it is stated by Mr. Larsen, president, Kamloops and District Labor Council, that "an organization headed by an East Indian lawyer whom he did not identify, arranges the importation of the laborers who in return for their fare and entry into Canada work in sawmills at 75 cents an hour, about a dollar under union rate." Many more irresponsible and false statements are listed to defame the whole East Indian community of Canada.

We challenge Mr. Larsen or any labor leader or anybody else to prove that slave labor as such is being brought into British Columbia. We challenge them to bring forward the facts to prove it. Under the existing laws none but the relations of Canadian citizens of East Indian origin can enter Canada and that after most elaborate examination, both in India and Canada, by the officials of the Canadian Immigration Department. The maximum such number cannot exceed 150 a year.

The East Indian population of British Columbia does not number more than 3,000 to 4,000 including men, women and children and old men unable to work. The publicity given by the press is liable to mislead the public, as if East Indians are overcrowding the whole industry of this province. This is not only unfair but malicious. This association would heartily and fully co-operate with any inquiry or investigation which may be instituted to bring forward the truth of the matter.

Change Justified

In your issue of May 20 Mr. C. A. Helgesen rightly suggested by his letter that close scrutiny by authorities and car designers in Canada be given to the prevalent system of left-hand-side driving of motor vehicles.

My original drivers' licence was issued in Scotland back in 1904, and, coming to B.C. in 1906, I have now driven over, under local licence, almost every road and trail throughout the province and in all weathers.

Every claim put forward by Mr. Helgesen for right-side driving can be fully substantiated, and, in addition, there is less hazard in that system, for drivers and passengers alike who now are so prone to opening wide doors and stepping out backwards and into the line of traffic.

In early days of cars built for left-hand drive one company even eliminated doors on the left side of its sedans to protect driver and passengers.

Could interest be developed in auto insurance groups and governmental authority concerned to sincerely approach this problem of design in the interests of safety and rising costs? We old-timers do know from long time and wide road experience that a change to right-hand drive is more than justified.

The People Pay

Sunday's editorial, "Who Pays the Piper?" illustrates that truth is ineffective unless accepted. True enough, the people pay the monies spent at the three levels of government. But this is not all. Actually, the people pay all the monies spent throughout the economy, either through Canadian or converted currencies. This truth would be the better for its acceptance. For in such case, it will be seen that all have a stake in the costs of industrial and business enterprise also and not just a favored few. And the answer that is inflation may seem less attractive where everybody spends everybody's money according to title and the individual debt becomes the debt of all.

Just as money is a medium of exchange, so commerce is a medium through which the people circulate the currencies vested in themselves.

Definitely, the people pay.

Millstone of Debt

A good many people are becoming quite confused, politically and though living in a democratically controlled country, we naturally do not have to all think alike, yet there must be some basically sound argument for definite views on our welfare.

Before me as I write this, I have a paper quoting this item: "Imports of finished manufactured goods have been calculated at per capita rates of $28 per year in the United States; $48 in the United Kingdom; and $262 in Canada."

Do these statistics furnish any explanation for unemployment so rife in Canada, with winter works programs at every level of government, deficit financing and the issuance of more loans to help offset this wholesale supply of subsidies?

In a recent item our Attorney-General Bonner stated the necessity for high wages to enable labor to purchase these products, to me a very flimsy argument, like trying to carry water in a sieve.

The serious tragedy to me is the millstone of debt we are pyramiding to hang on our children's necks for them to carry.

MRS. REX EATON

Tribute Paid to B.C. By UN Association

Mrs. Rex Eaton of Vancouver was elected president of the United Nations Association in Canada at the annual meeting Saturday and Sunday in Vancouver.

Four Victoria delegates — Miss Ethel Bruce, C. N. Senior, Dr. Hugh Keenleyside and Mrs. Ross Kidd — considered Mrs. Eaton's election a tribute to provincial work in the association.

The 113 delegates heard the convention pass resolutions favoring admission of Red China to the UN; future plans supporting the five-year "Freedom from Hunger" campaign of the UN's Food and Agricultural Organization, and an additional appeal for settlement of remaining refugees.

Victoria Couple Freed

Perjury Conspiracy Case Thrown Out in City Court

Ruling there was not a sufficient case against them, Magistrate William Ostler yesterday discharged a Victoria couple charged with conspiring to commit perjury.

Winnifred and Sandor Domokos, 670 Battery, faced preliminary hearing in city police court on the charge last week and the hearing was adjourned to yesterday.

The case had its origin in a dismissed assault charge laid against Mr. Domokos earlier this year. He and his wife were accused of conspiring with Beryl Fisher, 544 Simcoe, to commit perjury.

Preliminary hearing of a similar charge against Mrs. Fisher concluded last week with her committal to higher court for trial.

Yesterday, Magistrate Ostler said that, in the case against Mr. and Mrs. Domokos, Mrs. Fisher, crown's chief witness, had testified to nothing beyond a willingness to go with them to see their solicitor to tell him what she had heard about the alleged assault.

There was no evidence, he said, of intention even to go to court.

With dismissal of the action against Mr. and Mrs. Domokos, it is considered likely action against Mrs. Fisher will not go on.

'Hanging Must Stay'

OTTAWA (UPI) — Canada will retain the death penalty for murder because the majority of Canadians is not prepared to accept abolition of capital punishment, Justice Minister Fulton told the Commons yesterday.

Fulton rejected the possibility of government action to abolish the death penalty as the House began to debate a bill restricting the application of capital punishment in murder cases.

NOT PREPARED

"This bill reflects the view that Canadians are not prepared to accept the abolition, as distinguished from a restriction of the death penalty," Fulton said in moving second reading. All parties supported the bill.

The government believed, he added, "the protection of society demands that one who deliberately commits murder should be liable to the death penalty."

The proposed legislation reflected, however, the belief "that the law should not provide the death penalty for every murder, but only for those which have about them the element of deliberation."

The bill would divide murder cases into "capital" and "non-capital" murders providing an automatic life imprisonment sentence for those convicted of non-capital or unpremeditated murder and for persons under 18 convicted of capital murder.

Accomplices would also be covered.

Fulton said the bill "represents the most progressive and far-reaching move in this field in Canada since we did away with public hangings."

He said it would also take pressure off juries who in the past tended to bring in manslaughter verdicts when murder was obvious, because of distaste of the death penalty.

Quebec Liberal J. P. Deschamps said the legislation problem of differentiating between capital and non-capital kind of abolition of capital murder. "Only time will tell."

'Pimpernel' Group Saved Jews from Death

JERUSALEM (Reuters)—A wartime "Scarlet Pimpernel" organization manned by Jews wearing stolen Nazi uniforms rescued thousands of Jews from death, the court trying Adolf Eichmann was told here Tuesday.

The resistance men were Romanian Jews, and Dr. Theodor

Lowenstein, a former college lecturer in Bucharest, said about 2,000 refugees from Poland and a large number from Hungary were smuggled into Romania in safety.

"They used to steal across the border in German uniforms and bring back refugees from Poland and Hungary," Lowenstein testified.

In 1941, the Nazis tried to stop the Romanian Zionist organization from sending people to Palestine, but Zionists had sent 16 to 18 transports there before being disbanded in August, 1942.

Deputy Prosecutor Gabriel Bach submitted a death-rail affidavit by former Nazi SS Maj. Dieter Wisliceny, Eich-mann's subordinate who was executed in Czechoslovakia in 1946, in which he said he was shocked when Eichmann told him Hitler had ordered the extermination of European Jews.

Wisliceny said he asked Eichmann in 1942 what was really going on in Auschwitz concentration camp.

Eichmann hedged, but later told Wisliceny everything happening in Poland was carried out on the express orders of the Fuehrer, and produced from a safe a message from SS chief Heinrich Himmler saying Hitler had ordered the biological extermination of the Jewish people.

Aloof Stand U.S. Policy In Cuba Swap

WASHINGTON (UPI)—President Kennedy has ordered the government to keep hands off private efforts to send 500 tractors to Cuba in exchange for 1,200 captured rebels, Democratic congressional leaders said Tuesday.

Their assurances failed to satisfy a number of Republicans and several Democrats opposed to the tractors-for-prisoners plan. Sen. Homer E. Capehart (D-Ind.) demanded that the president say whether the proposal had official sanction.

The critics contend the plan would be a form of surrender to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro despite its humanitarian appeal. They also said the Logan Act forbids private negotiations with foreign governments.

Capehart demanded that the foreign relations committee call in responsible officials, including Secretary of State Dean Rusk, to say "who is running the government and by whose authority are we going to be blackmailed" by Castro.

Sen. Frank J. Lausche (D-Ohio) said the exchange proposal would be an abject surrender to Castro.

Capehart and Sen. John J. Williams (R-Del.) expressed concern about reports that the internal revenue service would rule that donations for purchase of the tractors would be tax exempt. Williams said such a ruling was impossible under the tax laws.

Earlier, Sen. Capehart referred to the Castro proposal as "blackmail ransom." Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) called it "heinous barter."

Speaker Sam Rayburn said after a White House legislative conference that the president declared the government had no part in a private group's efforts to raise money for the tractors and was "going to stay out of it."

Bomb Threat Alerts Army At Algerian Peace Talks

EVIAN, France (Reuters)—Leaflets threatening the destruction of "one hotel a day" starting next week were circulated here as French-Moslem peace talks continued Tuesday.

The leaflets were signed by the clandestine OAS—the secret army organization of European extremists in Algeria.

SHOW OF FORCE

France produced an abrupt show of force in this peaceful town on Lake Geneva to ward off the threat of an extremist attack on the Algerian rebel envoys here for their second session of peace talks.

An anti-aircraft group of six armed trucks rumbled into town to take up positions near the conference hotel and on the hillside overlooking the town as the Algerians arrived by helicopter from Geneva, 25 miles away.

All the units were removed from town after the meetings adjourned until Thursday morning. The Algerians climbed back aboard Swiss army helicopters for the return trip to Geneva.

The two opposing groups met for an hour and 30 minutes Tuesday morning and an hour in the afternoon in an atmosphere which, a French spokesman said, was "absolutely correct."

SECRECY CLOAK

They closed their deliberations by reaching an agreement to clamp a secrecy cloak over the negotiations and to meet only every other day.

Western Plan

Laos Neutrality Pledge Sought

GENEVA (Reuters)—France introduced the first detailed Western plan for solving the Laotian crisis at the 14-power conference here Tuesday.

The plan specified two declarations on Laotian neutrality—one a pledge of neutrality by Laos and the other a joint guarantee by the conferees.

PRIVATE MEETING

France's proposals were discussed by the United States, Britain and France at a private meeting Monday night, conference sources said.

The draft declaration by Laos pledged the kingdom never to carry out an aggressive policy and never to permit itself to be used for such a policy.

NEUTRAL STAND

The kingdom voluntarily would proclaim neutrality and refuse to join military alliances or allow foreign military personnel on its territory, other than those permitted by the 1954 Geneva East-West agreement on Indochina.

The Laotian government also would pledge to incorporate the declaration into its constitution.

SECOND DRAFT

The second draft pledged conferees to "abstain from all interference, direct or indirect, in the internal affairs of Laos."

Johnson Hailed

Asians Pay Homage To 'Winning Ways'

TOKYO (UPI)—Vice President Lyndon Johnson drew praise in Asian nations Tuesday as a "great politician" with winning ways. But some officials and newspapers said he had failed on his tour to present a "clear picture" of U.S. objectives in Laos.

SOME CRITICISMS

Most official and newspaper comment paid homage to Johnson's personal ability to make friends. There was blunt criticism, however, ranging from U.S. Southeast Asia policies all the way to a Thai newspaper complaint that Johnson jammed rush hour traffic in Bangkok by stopping to shake hands.

Thai newspapers reported that Johnson had failed to convince Premier Sarit Thanarat of the need for "peace forces," and commented openly that Laos was "lost."

'SPECTACLE'

The Times of India called Johnson's visit a "painful spectacle." An editorial said that he had failed to enunciate United States objectives apart from "reaffirmation of the status quo."

Newspapers in South Viet Nam commented that the vice president had impressed the man in the street. The Daily Ngon Luan hailed Johnson as "an ambassador of freedom and a promoter of noble and unparalleled friendship."

Kennedy Wants Billions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy will ask Congress Thursday for billions more in government spending to step up U.S. space and defence programs and increase aid to Communist-threatened Southeast Asia.

The president's plans will be submitted in a message to the House and Senate, rather than in a personal appearance.

LOT OF MONEY

Speaker Sam Rayburn said the president's appropriations requests would cover space, the armed forces, civil defence, foreign aid and job retaining.

"This is going to involve a lot of money," he added.

Other leaders said Kennedy would propose increased aid to certain areas of Southeast Asia, including South Viet Nam and Thailand. He also will ask for $285,000,000 for the current fiscal year to strengthen some army and marine divisions.

FOREIGN AID

Sen. Hubert Humphrey said the president also would send to Congress this week a $2,800,000,000 foreign aid program for the fiscal year starting July 1, separate from the other request.

Plans to step up the space program have been in the works ever since astronaut Alan Shepard's successful rocket flight May 5. The president said then he planned to seek more money for the space effort. Amount will be about $600,000,000.

Swindle Charge Denied

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The first of 22 defendants indicted by a federal grand jury May 19 on charges of operating a huge Canadian mining stock swindle surrendered Tuesday in U.S. district court.

Theodore Krol of New York City pleaded not guilty to the 23-count indictment linking him to a $335,000 swindle of stockholders in the now-defunct Trans-Nation Minerals Ltd.

Investigators for the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission said Krol is one of some 20 salesmen employed by the brokerage firm that peddled the worthless stock.

Most of the other salesmen involved are believed to be in Canada, the SEC said.

Krol was released under a nominal $10,000 bond without requiring the posting of surety.

Rocket Men Baffled By Blast

ROCKET CENTRE, W. Va. (UPI) — Explosives experts searched through the rubble of four buildings at the U.S. Navy's Allegany ballistics laboratory Tuesday to determine the cause of an explosion which killed nine employees and injured 26 others.

A spokesman for the nine-man team of experts declined to speculate on the cause of Monday's blast or in which of the four buildings it occurred.

NOT SOLID FUEL

But he said the cause "definitely could not have been solid fuel used in the Polaris and other rockets built and tested at the site."

The navy said the accident would not affect its missile program. Work schedules at the sprawling installation, situated on 425 acres hemmed in by a mountain range, resumed with all of the more than 2,000 employees on the job.

Ocean-Cable Secrets Unveiled

LONDON (CP) — All Atlantic trawler fleets including Russia's will be issued with charts showing the precise position of submarine cables linking Britain and North America.

The charts are designed to prevent the serious damage being done to cables by Russian trawlers.

Position of the cables has been kept secret because communications would be hampered if they were cut in time of war.

Car No. 63, a Studebaker Lark—as it crosses the finish line in Vancouver, seven days and 4098.3 miles after leaving Montreal. Faultless performance by crew, car and Shell gasoline and lubricants.

Rally winners reveal five "do it yourself" tests to check your car for top performance and how today's Super Shell can help you get it

"Top performance" means different things to different people. But to men like Jack Young and Reg Hillary who won the B.C.I.T.F. Trans Canada Car Rally, there's nothing vague about it. Top performance means fast starts, a purring engine, reserve power without knock and good mileage.

Their experience can be useful to you. A rally is not a race at high speeds, but a test of driving skill, driving safety, and top performance of the automobile over long distances. Read five tests that Young and Hillary recommend to every automobile owner to check for performance. They'll help you find out if your own car is really delivering its best.

"TOP PERFORMANCE has a real meaning to us in a grueling test like the B.C.I.T.F. Trans Canada Rally," explains Jack Young who drove the winning car in the 4,098 mile contest. "Performance is vitally important to us," adds Reg Hillary who took care of timing and "navigation" for the seven days of the rally. "Of course, we are pretty fanatical about the tests we put our car through to measure top performance. But anybody can run a version of our tests. You can easily learn whether you're getting top performance."

Test #1—Easy starting

Does your engine "snap to" when you press the starter? It should. An engine should start in two-to-three seconds. A slow start drains your battery, may flood your cylinders, and add to performance troubles.

If your car is balky, try Super Shell. Shell scientists blend quick starts into Super Shell by adding a frisky ingredient called butane. Butane is so eager to get going that it would evaporate by itself if during manufacture it were not stored under pressure.

Test #2—Smooth running

Sometimes you can tell more from the way your car behaves in traffic than you can from high speed highway operation. Your car may vibrate when you pause for a traffic light, as if the idling engine were about to stall. Or it may "surge" as you accelerate, only to falter and fade.

Part of these troubles can be corrected by minor adjustments of the carburetor and spark timing. Your Shell dealer can take care of this for you.

The wrong blend of gasoline can also cause trouble.

A winter blend of gasolines, for example, is too volatile for summer operation. Excessive heat can make it bubble in the fuel line; and these bubbles can choke off the flow of gasoline.

Shell scientists balance the formula of Super Shell according to the seasons. In hot weather, for example, they adjust the ingredients in Super Shell to give it the correct volatility for summer driving.

When you use Super Shell, your car should idle smoothly—no stalling, no surges, no faltering, no fading.

Test #3—Reserve power

Shell scientists use complex instruments to measure horsepower. But there is one test you can use to determine if you have enough reserve power for emergencies. It is largely a matter of feel. Here's what you do.

On a high-speed highway in light traffic, accelerate suddenly from about thirty miles an hour up to the legal limit. Hold that speed and ask yourself two questions:

1. Did I accelerate smoothly—with no bogging down, no long lag between the time I pressed the accelerator and the time my car responded?

2. Do I still have power to spare—extra power I might need in an emergency?

If you feel your engine is strained to the limit—if you've "run out of engine" as rally drivers put it—it's probably a sign your engine is out of tune, losing power.

Your Shell dealer can help improve the power of your car by changing worn plugs, adjusting your carburetor and spark timing and by changing your oil to new Shell X-100 Premium Motor Oil.

The energy-releasing ingredients in today's Super Shell will deliver all the power your engine can produce. Plat-formate, one of Super Shell's nine ingredients, puts benzene, toluene and xylene to work for you. These super-energy components release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the finest 100-octane aviation gasoline.

Another Super Shell ingredient, improved TCP, can even help restore power previously lost because of combustion chamber deposits. When such deposits glow they can cause knock—steal power. TCP simply makes these deposits harmless—it can restore up to 15 per cent of the power they've stolen.

Test #4—Knock

One crucial test for knock is full throttle acceleration. "If you hear an irritating clatter like marbles falling into an empty oil drum, you've got knock," says Young. If you get this sound on the open road at cruising speed, it may be causing your engine a lot of trouble. And probably wasting a lot of power.

Take no chances. Switch to Super Shell at once. It has no less than three ingredients especially designed to prevent knock. One of these ingredients, the anti-knock mix, is so powerful that one teaspoon per gallon can boost anti-knock rating by five points.

Test #5—Miles/gallon

There's more nonsense talked about mileage than any other aspect of performance.

"It's tough to figure mileage accurately," explains Hillary. "The Shell experts measure their fuel to the drop and drive at an even pace over a carefully measured mile. Then they repeat the test till they're blue in the face." You won't need this kind of accuracy—but you can come close enough by following three simple steps.

1. Start your test by filling the tank to the brim. (Just saying "fill 'er up" won't do. You should actually see the gasoline.) Write down your mileage reading at this time.

2. Drive for at least three tankfuls under similar driving conditions. Keep a record of the exact amount of gasoline you buy.

3. Finally, fill your tank to the brim again and add up your total gallons bought (not counting the initial fill-up in step 1). Divide this amount into your total miles driven. This gives you your average miles per gallon.

Try this test with three tankfuls of Super Shell. You may be pleasantly surprised.

Super Shell contains the nine ingredients most cars need for top performance.

#1 is TCP additive. It can give many cars up to 15 per cent more power, up to 17 extra miles per tankful.

#2 is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. It's the super-octane result of catalytic action at 900° F.

#3 is heavy alkanes, a high octane, anti-knock ingredient. Prevents knock at low and high engine speeds.

#4 is anti-knock mix for extra resistance to knocks. It helps control combustion, so that pistons get a firm, even push rather than a hard knock.

#5 is butane for quick starts. It is so anxious to get going, it would boil in your refrigerator.

#6 is mixed pentanes for fast warm-ups. It is made by tearing gasoline apart, much as you split kindling.

#7 is an anti-leer to check cold-weather stalling. It's added when the temperature is likely to remain below 45° F.

#8 is gum preventive to help keep carburetors from clogging.

#9 is Plat-formate for extra mileage. It takes one million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst for Shell to make this super-energy ingredient.

You'll soon feel and hear the difference in the way your engine runs.

That difference is the purr and power of top performance.

LONDON (UPI)—The Medical Press, a doctors' journal, suggests that motorists who want to drive at 80 miles an hour should be issued with a special licence and given an extra driving test. They would have to have five years of accident-free driving.

Fastest-Ever Field for Indianapolis Race

Only two drivers were able to squeeze in Sunday by "bumping" slower, earlier qualifiers. Norm Hall of Los Angeles, another newcomer whose first qualifying car was bumped Saturday, came back in a Federal Engineering Special and requalified with a solid 144.553. He eliminated Paul Russo, Fortville, Ind., a veteran of 14 Memorial Day starts who had qualified on Saturday at 143.983. Other veterans who failed to make it were Duane Carter, Indianapolis, a 10-time starter; Don Freeland, Torrance, Calif., who had started eight straight; and Bob Velth, Fort Bragg, Calif., who had started five times.

There were constant reminders of the May 11 test run wreck which killed former national champion Tony Bettenhausen. Marshman qualified in the car in which Bettenhausen finished fourth in the 1959 Indianapolis race. Russo had qualified a second car Brabham's English Cooper after his first one was destroyed in the crash that killed Bettenhausen. Every car in the lineup will be powered by a four-cylinder engine—32 Offenhausers and Brabham's English Cooper Climax.

AT THE 19th

With Harry Young

Most of the top amateur and professional players of the district will be in action this evening at Victoria and Uplands Golf courses for the opening matches of the district Inter-Club League.

The league has been won by Colwood in 1959 and by Gorge Vale in 1960, and this year the other two clubs are hoping it will be their turn to have their names engraved on the historic Willie Park driver, the trophy at stake.

Defending champion Gorge Vale opens its campaign at Uplands, and Colwood is at Victoria.

In the Gorge team, the policy has been to let well enough alone. No changes have been made either in personnel or in the pairings. The main surprise in this, of course, is that Norm Boden, Island Open champion this year, still fills the fifth spot and in partnership with Fred Painter will give the club its traditionally strong tail.

None of the other clubs are so strong as this in depth, and this may be an important factor in the contest.

In the Uplands team, Bob Morrison is a notable absentee from last year's side, which very nearly beat Gorge for top place. Joe Briggs is his replacement.

This has meant a general team shuffle. Team leader Gordon Fellow will have Ken Lawson as a new partner; Frank Scroggs will team up with Fred Ranson, and Briggs will be with Claude Heggie.

In the Colwood team, president Don Ross, who came in as an alternate last year, is a first-choice partner for his namesake, Roger Ross. They will play in the middle partnership.

Top men again will be Laurie Kerr and George Andrews, with Vic Painter and Bill Court forming up the rear.

At Victoria there is also one change. Al Manson takes the place of Doug Munro as partner to Cliff Horwood in the third partnership and this is interesting because both of these bean-pole youths are left handed.

Manson more or less won his way into the side when he defeated George Bigelow in the first round of the club championship, and in the semi final he is likely to be opposed by his new Inter-League partner.

Of tonight's individual games, there will be much interest in the meeting of George Bigelow and Laurie Kerr. These two met in the semi-final of the Island Open and on that occasion Bigelow won by proving sharper around the greens. With Carroll and Andrews in the same four-ball this should be a good one to watch.

In the match at Uplands, Donaldson, who is always a powerful contender in this type of play, will face up to Gordon Fellow in the top match. Further down the list, Bill Wakeham, another big point-winner for Gorge, will oppose Frank Scroggs, while Boden goes against Claude Heggie.

All in all it promises to be another interesting competition. The matches will be played on each of the next six Wednesday evenings.

Here is the draw and starting times for tonight:

COLWOOD AT VICTORIA
5.30 L. Kerr and G. Andrews vs. G. Bigelow and L. Carroll
5.35 R. Ross and D. Ross vs. R. Chappell and W. McColl
5.42 Vic Painter and W. Court vs. C. Horwood and A. Manson

GORGE AT UPLANDS
5.30 A. Donaldson vs. G. Fellow and D. Fanthorpe and K. Lawson
5.32 W. Wakeham vs. F. Scroggs and J. Merriman and F. Ranson
5.42 N. Boden and F. Painter vs. C. Heggie and J. Briggs

Victoria's leading candidate for the Willingdon Cup team is Bill Wakeham, and the Gorge Vale youngster showed his mettle in winning the Gorge Handicap championship and recording the lowest gross score as well.

Bill's 36 holes medal count was 73-70-66-137. Runners up were Ken Preston 84-75-65-203 and Con Brigstrom 74-79-65-214.

Low gross prize went to Art Donaldson by reversion. He scored one more than Wakeham 70-74-144.

City amateur championship will be played this year at Victoria Golf Club with 36 holes scheduled on Sunday, June 4, and the final 18 holes, for the leading players, the following Sunday. Entries should be posted with club secretaries not later than next Tuesday. The draw will be made next Wednesday and no post entries will be accepted. . . city junior championship is at Uplands on Saturday, June 3 over 36 holes of medal play. All those with RCGA handicaps who are not 19 years old by Aug. 14 are eligible and should make entry immediately at their clubs. . . June 3 is also the date of the Vancouver Island Legion tournament with Mt. Brenton Golf Club at Chemainus again the host club. Gordon Fellow of Uplands and Bill Foulds of Chemainus, low gross and low net winners last year, both plan to defend. . . Bob McMurchie scored the first hole-in-one at the new pitch-and-putt course at Cordova Bay when he holed out at the 100-yards (fifth hole last week. . . annual home-and-home match between Seattle and Victoria clubs starts at Victoria Saturday. . . Hugh Smith and Bert Rex are still holding the senior city buttons after a 1-up win over Ted Williams and Tom Wattmore.

Aussies Just Miss Against Glamorgan

CARDIFF, Wales (Reuters)—Glamorgan prevented the touring Australian cricket team from scoring its fourth successive victory on Monday by barely forcing a draw.

The County team started play Tuesday with defeat all but certain. Forced to follow on after a first innings of 235 in reply to Australia's 402, Glamorgan started the day needing 119 runs with eight wickets in hand to avert defeat.

J. Broadhead saved the day after two wickets were down for 48 runs, scoring 118 runs not out when Glamorgan declared at 283 for seven and left the Australians to get 116 runs in the little remaining time.

They came close, marking up 90 without the loss of a wicket before the match ended.

Other close-of-play scores Tuesday:

Lancashire 268 and 102, Yorkshire 201 for 30 and 100, Warwickshire 233 and 134, Leicestershire 230 and 98, Warwickshire won by 37 runs.

See Possibility of Foul Play In Illness of Derby Favorite

NEWMARKET, England—Pinturichio may run in the Epsom Derby after all, but trainer Noel Murless is still considering the possibility that someone poisoned the former favorite for the May 31 race.

The three-year-old colt, a 9-1 favorite, has twice been taken ill with a stomach ailment and after the latest attack Saturday Murless charged that the horse had been poisoned, and said he would withdraw it from the race.

"But Pinturichio's condition has improved so much during the last 48 hours it has been decided not to withdraw him yet," he said. "A final decision will be made this weekend."

Murless had ordered a blood sample made Monday on the suspicion the colt was doped.

"I cannot rule out the possibility of foul play," he said. "There is no doubt that for a week Pinturichio has been suffering from some kind of poisoning."

There is no way of knowing how much money had been bet on the horse but it has been estimated that at least $200,000 has been wagered at 8-1 odds. The bookmakers pocket the money if the horse does not run.

Murless admitted that he could see no reason for poisoning the horse this early, and added that "it could be the result of something he has eaten."

CAHA Ready to Row With Pros Over Rules

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. (CP)—The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association vowed Monday it will take a stronger stand against the National Hockey League in setting up rules for Canada's number-one sport.

The association, indignant over what it feels is automatic rejection of its rule suggestions by the professional-dominated joint rules committee.

If the board of arbitration is sought and refused, said the CAHA secretary-manager, Gordon Jukes, of Melville, Sask., "our next semi-annual meeting will have to decide what to do."

One of the more controversial rules bothering the CAHA is that covering "icing the puck." The body last year adopted a resolution calling for a quick call, or an automatic stoppage of play, when the puck is iced—shot from a team's own side of the centre line across the opposing goal line when the clubs are at equal strength.

The rule now states that the referee stops the play only if a defending player other than the goalie touched the puck after it passes the goal line.

The CAHA's bid to have this changed was rejected by the joint rules committee.

The 22 voting delegates from nine branches decided that for at least another year helmets and goalkeepers' masks will not be compulsory. A resolution calling for the elimination of the centre line also was defeated.

A resolution calling for the elimination of the centre line also was defeated.

The association reversed one of its policies when approved a resolution calling for a visiting team in playoff series to get $200 expense money and the home team $50. The new regulation, designed especially for senior clubs, eases the burden of lost wages shouldered by the travelling players.

The Dodgers had their win streak snapped by Cincinnati Reds, bidding to be the Detroit Tigers of their league. Rookie Ken Hunt, with late-inning help from Bill Henry, stopped the Dodgers, 2-0, for his fourth win in six decisions.

CHANCE MISSED

The Braves stopped Pittsburgh Pirates from taking the lead despite great pitching by Bobby Shantz, making his first start in two years.

Shantz gave up only three hits before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning but two of them were a triple by Frank Bolling and a single by Ed Mathews in the ninth.

They produced a run, and it was enough for veteran Lew Burdette, who tossed a four-hitter for his shutout.

Victory boosted the Tigers four and a half games in front of the Cleveland Indians who were stopped, 9-0, by Los Angeles Angels after winning six in a row.

Rookie Ken McBride held Indians to three hits as the Angels continued to blast home runs in cozy Wrigley Field. Averill hit his ninth, Leon Wagner his eighth and rookie Ken Hunt his sixth in support of McBride, now 4-1 for the season.

The Indians had gained a bit of ground over the weekend with three wins over the slumping Twins, including a double shutout on Sunday. But it wasn't much ground, the Tigers staying tough with two wins over Kansas City.

Chicago White Sox got fine pitching from Billy Pierce, who struck out 12 men in six innings after a shaky start, but continued to slip as a 3-1 win with Hoyt Wilhelm again shutting things down in a relief role.

THINGS STAYED CLOSER than the next minute in the National League, where only a game and a half separates the first four clubs and Milwaukee's fifth-place Braves are within touching distance.

San Francisco's leading Giants, who lost three straight one-run decisions to Los Angeles Dodgers, were clobbered, 12-4, at St. Louis Cardinals evened the series at 1-1.

Ex-Giant Bill White snapped out of a slump to lead the attack with a home run, double and two singles, and youngster Ray Sadecki managed to space 12 hits well enough to stay comfortably in front.

Victory boosted the Tigers four and a half games in front of the Cleveland Indians who were stopped, 9-0, by Los Angeles Angels after winning six in a row.

Rookie Ken McBride held Indians to three hits as the Angels continued to blast home runs in cozy Wrigley Field. Averill hit his ninth, Leon Wagner his eighth and rookie Ken Hunt his sixth in support of McBride, now 4-1 for the season.

The Indians had gained a bit of ground over the weekend with three wins over the slumping Twins, including a double shutout on Sunday. But it wasn't much ground, the Tigers staying tough with two wins over Kansas City.

Chicago White Sox got fine pitching from Billy Pierce, who struck out 12 men in six innings after a shaky start, but continued to slip as a 3-1 win with Hoyt Wilhelm again shutting things down in a relief role.

THINGS STAYED CLOSER than the next minute in the National League, where only a game and a half separates the first four clubs and Milwaukee's fifth-place Braves are within touching distance.

San Francisco's leading Giants, who lost three straight one-run decisions to Los Angeles Dodgers, were clobbered, 12-4, at St. Louis Cardinals evened the series at 1-1.

Ex-Giant Bill White snapped out of a slump to lead the attack with a home run, double and two singles, and youngster Ray Sadecki managed to space 12 hits well enough to stay comfortably in front.

The Dodgers had their win streak snapped by Cincinnati Reds, bidding to be the Detroit Tigers of their league. Rookie Ken Hunt, with late-inning help from Bill Henry, stopped the Dodgers, 2-0, for his fourth win in six decisions.

CHANCE MISSED

The Braves stopped Pittsburgh Pirates from taking the lead despite great pitching by Bobby Shantz, making his first start in two years.

Shantz gave up only three hits before being lifted for a pinch-hitter in the eighth inning but two of them were a triple by Frank Bolling and a single by Ed Mathews in the ninth.

They produced a run, and it was enough for veteran Lew Burdette, who tossed a four-hitter for his shutout.

Two May Defy PGA

There were indications yesterday that Arnold Palmer and Stan Leonard would risk threatened suspension by the Professional Golf Association by deciding to play in the international Canada Cup match at San Juan, June 1-4, but South Africa's Gary Player seemed ready to abide by whatever the PGA demanded. Meanwhile, PGA officials talked about "a friendly and imminent solution" without saying what it might be as the hassle continued without any sign that a satisfactory solution might be found.

WILL KEEP BUSY

Palmer said if he gets suspended—the threatened sentence is six months and a $500 fine—he'll spend the time playing exhibitions. Leonard said he had similar plans, and plans to get in a bit of fishing as well.

Player said he had no intention of risking the suspension and hoped the dispute could be settled "in a friendly manner."

Boxing Show Survives Bad Weather

The weather was hardly satisfactory for an outdoor fight card, but fans with patience enough to stick around sat in on a good 10-hour boxing card Monday at Royal Athletic Park.

Rain delayed the opening 30 minutes, and half the crowd of 200 had given up and gone home when officials pulled the ring closer to the stands, rigged a tarpaulin over it, and started the card.

Pte. Larry Cardinal, former Canadian Army light-middleweight champion, earned a close decision over PPCLI clubmate Danny McDonald and middleweight Al Curtis of Victoria edged Pte. Bob McNeill of PPCLI in the second five-round main event.

Tommy Black of Victoria beat Bobby Williams of Vancouver in a featherweight bout, and Victoria middleweight Harry Heinz stopped Vancouver's George Sukki on a second-round technical knockout.

In another interesting bout, Mike Seguin of Victoria defeated Gordie Stevenson of Chemainus in the flyweight class.

Other results:

Jimmy O'Neill, Bantam, defeated Danny Akerman, Salt Spring; 10-round bout.

Maury Akerman, Salt Spring, defeated Grant Mehar, Bantam; 10-round bout.

Harvey Seymour, Ladysmith, defeated Richard Christensen, Bantam; 10-round bout.

Mike Caird, Bantam, defeated Dave Valles, Culwood; welterweight bout.

Timie Falconer, Bantam, defeated Pte. Fred Francis, PPCLI, lightweight bout.

Jokers Upset B.C. Champs

Jokers came from behind with four straight goals in the fourth quarter last night to upset Foul Bay's defending B.C. champions, 5-4, in the opening game of the Senior "B" Lacrosse League at Stevenson Park.

Bob Jones, with two; Whitey Wakelyn, Bob Anderson and Connors scored for Jokers. Fred Mair, Ron Marshall, Jack Reid and Mel Davison got the goals for the losers.

Four No-Hitters In Minor Baseball

Four no-hitters were pitched in Victoria's minor baseball leagues Sunday, and nowhere was the pitching better than in the Carnarvon Pony League.

First 14-year-old Bruce McKenzie tossed a no-hitter to give Jaycees a 2-0 victory over Cosmopolitans. Then Bob Murphy came on in the second half of the doubleheader and posted a no-hitter of his own as Mawson-Gage blanked Firemen, 4-0.

McKenzie struck out 18, a league record, and missed a perfect game only because he issued one walk. Murphy struck out nine.

Peter Duncan pitched his second no-hitter of the year in the Gordon Head Little League, winning 5-0 for News Kings over Al's Service.

The other no-hitter was shared by Roy St. Denis and Neil Worboys, who came on in relief in the final inning to save a 5-2 victory for Social Credit over Duncan in the Connie Mack League.

George Hemming struck out 19 and missed a no-hitter on an infield hit while Victoria Optimists downed Birnie's, 5-2, in the second game of a Connie Mack doubleheader.

City Youngster Nosed Out At Mid-Island Golf Meet

NANAIMO—Harvey Hutchinson of Nanaimo shot a one-over-par 35 on the final nine here Monday to beat out Earle Francis of Victoria's Gorge Vale Golf Club for the mid-island junior championship.

Hutchinson and Francis finished one-two on the first 18 holes, with Francis one stroke down after three-putting the 17th and missing a two-footer on the 18th. The top 10 then advanced for another nine holes, and again Francis placed second. Hutchinson's score for the 27 holes was 39-38-35—112, and he also took the boys' low gross shield.

Gorge Vale's team of Francis, Noel Pumfrets, Bill Wirtanen and Jim McCormick won the team title with a combined score of 318. Gary Smith of Royal Colwood Golf and Country Club had low gross for 18 holes and Bert Wright of Cowichan took low net. Girls' low gross winner was Donna Pendergast.

Nikita Talks Follow First Act of Show

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev

went to the Icecapades last night, but left after the first act for talks with U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn E. Thompson on his meeting with President Kennedy.

Khrushchev, accompanied by his family, seemed to enjoy the American ice show. Thompson and his wife sat in Khrushchev's box.

The Soviet premier applauded the skaters frequently and sent a bouquet of flowers to the troupe. The bouquet was showed out on the ice for the finale.

Office Ransacked

City Thieves Steal $1,510

Loot totalling $1,510, including about $700 in cash, was stolen in a weekend break-in at the Causeway Service Station, 812 Wharf, city police reported yesterday.

Called at 7.50 a.m. yesterday, city detectives found entry had been gained by jamming an office window. A filing cabinet in the office containing cheques and credit card sales was ransacked.

Oak Bay police reported the home of Jean Nugent, 2120 Neil, was entered through an unlocked front door, between 8.30 p.m. and 12.45 a.m. May 20. Stolen was $30 in cash, taken from two purses.

High School Courses Planned for Adults

Adults who have not completed high school will have an opportunity to do so through night school courses starting in September, Education Minister Leslie Peterson said yesterday.

Until the present time, he said, it had been possible for adults to qualify for university entrance through correspondence courses and by writing departmental examinations.

Now a similar program will be available to adults who wish to complete high school through public night school courses.

Water Plan Work Starts On June 1

Work on the new water distribution system in Central Saanich is expected to start on June 1, a municipal spokesman said last night.

Reeve R. Gordon Lee said nothing would be done until a one-month period of review was completed. The month's wait is to allow anyone to protest the bylaw which passed by a vote of 65.3 per cent on April 29.

Reeve Lee said material needed for construction of the water system had been ordered but that the orders would not take effect until June 1.

'New Moon' Great Success

By BERT BINNY

With notable artistic success in a large artistic contribution to the Victoria Day celebrations, the Gilbert and Sullivan Operatic Society opened Romberg's "New Moon" at the Royal Theatre Monday evening. Final performance is this evening at 8.15.

The show presents some outstanding all-round individual performances. John Dunbar played and sang a consistently excellent lead as Robert.

LOOKED LOVELY

Anne Harris sang delightfully and looked lovely but underplayed the rather fiery character of Marianne.

The spirit of the piece entered into Adele Goult, Margaret Duff, Cliff Clarke, Norman Tyrrell, Mickey Rogers and Hans Steffan—all thoroughly satisfying and entertaining.

A most efficient character actor, Ellis Todd got off to a shaky start Monday but later added definition to the part of Ribaud. Tommy Mayne was always adequate although the interpretation he gave to Beauvoir was somewhat at variance with his appearance.

MEN BETTER

The men's chorus was more satisfactory than the women's, probably a generic rather than a specific trouble.

The show ran 3½ hours which is a good deal too long. After nine repeats of "Stout-Hearted Men," this writer lost count.

The orchestra under musical director Stanley Hoban was always good. Costuming was fine and lighting excellent. Arthur Budd's stage direction was generally sound.

Black Clouds Mean Red Ink for Indians

Black rain clouds put the Songhees Indian Reserve's two-day festival in the red. Chief John Albany reported yesterday.

Rain washed out gate receipts at Monday's events — "and gate receipts are what we depend on to pay the cost of the whole show," reported Chief Albany.

MEETING SET

The executive of the committee that stages the yearly show will meet Monday to assess the extent of the operating loss and lay plans on methods to avert a similar situation next year.

The rain hit the festival during its big day.

SMALL FUND

"Monday is the big day of the festival, when we go all out," said the chief. "Luckily, we have a small emergency fund set up from previous years and I think we'll get by the deficit by the skin of our teeth."

Despite the small turnout, performers went "all-out" in staging the various events.

CANOE RACE

Highlight of the day was the 11-paddle canoe race, won by the Mermade from Galiano Island, skippered by Johnny Crocker.

Small Festival Fund Wiped Out by Rain

ennial trophy. The previous day they had won the Wallace Cup.

WON TWICE

Winner both Sunday and Monday was the Mermade; in second place was the Shadow, from Chemainus Bay, with Alex Louie as skipper; third was Mount Prevost, Duncan, skippered by Arnold Joe.

Two-paddle canoe race was won by Dale and Harry George of North Vancouver. Second were Wilfred Aleck and Edward Seymour of Chemainus Bay. Third were Mannie Sampson and Lester Edwards, also of Chemainus Bay.

SINGLE PADDLE

Lester Edwards also defeated 13 others to win the single paddle class. Second was Roy Edwards and Dale George was third.

SONGHEES GIRL

Queen of the festival was 18-year-old Jeanette Dick of the Songhees band, who wore full ceremonial dress. Her princess was Karen Williams, 9, daughter of Chief Don Williams of Cole Bay Reserve.

The festival featured Thunderbird and other west coast tribal dances and songs.

Giant Parade Great Fun Despite Rain

Chilly weather and threatening rain failed to drive away crowds as thousands of Victoria residents lined city streets Monday to watch the annual Victoria Day parade.

For two hours and 10 minutes, spectators along the two and a half mile parade route were treated to crashing drums, pretty girls, crazy clowns, floats, military units, horses and vintage cars.

Thirty-two military bands and units comprised the largest military contingent ever seen in the history of the annual parade sponsored by the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

People watched from everywhere. Some sat on blankets or garden chairs, others perched atop step ladders. Some sat on fire escapes and marquees, others leaned out upper windows.

Clowns Keep Crowd Laughing

Mischievous clowns infiltrated the ranks of marchers and bands, drawing laughs from the crowd. Elaborately decorated floats drew "oohs" and "aahs" from spectators.

Down the street came five sheep herded by two dogs from the Michael Williams kennels, and young Victoria Art Gallery students wearing surrealist papier mache heads.

Largest of the numerous

band and drill teams from the United States was Bellingham High School's 125-member band and 22-member drill team.

The old-time cars also had a good day. There were 48 cars entered by members of the Vintage Car Club of Canada, including a 1904 Cadillac owned by Quinton MacAdam of Vancouver, which won a prize for the best antique car.

May Queen Crowned

'I'm the Proudest Girl,' Says Nina

Seventeen-year-old Nina Holden officially became Victoria May Queen for 1961 at a colorful ceremony on the steps of the legislative buildings Sunday.

She was crowned by Mayor Percy Scourrah, while trumpeters blew a brass fanfare. Accompanying Miss Victoria were her two princesses, Marieka Schwagly and Audrey Thornton.

'SMILE HER FORTUNE'

Retiring May Queen Sherrin Molyard told Miss Holden, "your smile will be your fortune."

TROPHIES PRESENTED

Miss Holden and her princesses were also presented with silver compacts, gifts of a local jeweler.

Bands Everywhere For Holiday Here

Victoria residents had all the band music they could desire during the weekend festivities.

On Sunday, there were concerts in front of the legislative buildings, in Beacon Hill Park and outside Veterans' Hospital.

On Monday, there were more than 30 bands in the Victoria Day parade and a western-style band playing in Beacon Hill Park during the afternoon.

Fair Prize Up for Sale

Boy Puts College Hopes Before That 'Dream Car'

A youngster who puts an education first will sell the one item most youths dream of—a brand new car.

John Cook, 15, of 6272 Rudolph, who won the main door prize at the Jaycee fair—a 1961 Chevrolet Bel Air sedan—says he'll sell the car and bank the money to pay for his future college education.

"Besides," said John, "I'm be able to run a boat of that too young to drive it anyway."

Both winners of the main prizes at the fair have announced they will take cash instead. William G. Passmore, 3133 Westdowne, who won the $10,000 luxury cruiser, intends to offer the boat for sale. His wife said they "wouldn't

Get Into Education Field Hamilton Urges Ottawa

New Party candidate Glen Hamilton last night urged the federal government to step into the field of education and ease "the present burden on land-owners."

The candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election told a meeting at Sooke Community Hall old-line political parties were "indifferent to this pressing need."

He proposed a system of direct federal grants toward school construction costs to ease the municipal tax load. "Only 'outmoded tradition has kept the federal government out of this field, and the New Party will not be afraid to break with tradition when it is in the best interests of all the people," said Mr. Hamilton.

"As for the Tories, they are passing the buck back to the provinces with a system of double taxation — the tax jungle of the 30s," he added. A second speaker at the meeting, Erhart Regier, MP for Burnaby-Coquitlam, said the Conservative party had not been in power long enough for the people to forget the inefficiency of the Liberal government.

He claimed the Liberals, Tories and Socialists were "basically the same because they are all controlled by the same interests."

BCE Explains

Scurrah, Reeves Open Bus Probe

Technical representatives of the newly-created Greater Victoria Transit Commission sat down yesterday to their first session of scrutinizing a B.C. Electric bus service curtailment proposal.

The commission was set up by the Greater Victoria inter-municipal committee last Thursday and consists of Mayor Percy Scurrah, chairman; Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch.

Engineers representing Victoria and Oak Bay, and Saanich Municipal Clerk Gordon Hayward attended yesterday's meeting and heard BCE representatives explain proposed route and schedule changes in detail.

BCE officials have asked the city to render a decision on acceptance or opposition to the plan by the end of this month. Final approval for the changes must come from the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

Sidney Angry At Pegs

Sidney citizens are up in arms about a set of survey pegs driven into the ground by a crew in Sidney-North Saanich War Memorial Park yesterday.

The pegs, believed planted in connection with re-routing of the Patricia Bay Highway to allow lengthening of the airport main runway, cut off a substantial part of the park baseball diamond and football field, a spokesman said.

Members of the parks board and other Sidney and North Saanich representatives will seek a meeting with government officials to discuss the move.

"Question of the re-location of the highway has been a warm subject for some time here," Arthur Gardner chairman of the Sidney parks board, said last night, "but we had to be sure just where the new road was going to be located before taking any steps to discuss it."

His motorcycle, police said, was in collision with a car driven by a juvenile. The officer was also taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated and released.

One-half hour later Mrs. Dorothy Atherley, 2615 Fernwood, suffered bruises and abrasions when brushed by a parade float and knocked to the street on Princess. She was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Driver of the float, whose vision was obscured by decorations, was identified as Stanley H. Wait, 5293 Patricia Bay Highway.

Joseph Thomas, 1489 Admirals, was treated for leg injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital and released after running into the path of a car on Government near Fisgard at 1 p.m. Monday. Police said the car driver was Dennis Bright, Comox.

Garnett Silent About Quadra

Blanshard Street Bombshell Appalls City, B.C. Experts

Nervous Engineers Eye Patricia Bay Road Plan

By TERRY HAMMOND

A secretly appalled city engineering staff yesterday maintained stiff upper lips in reaction to Friday's bombshell plan, to scrap the $1,000,000 Blanshard Street project.

Simultaneously, equally reticent provincial highways department engineers were taking a puzzled second look at their multi-million-dollar Patricia Bay Highway widening program.

City engineer James Garnett, plainly aghast at Ald. Austin Curtis' proposal that a Quadra

Street widening project be substituted for extension of Blanshard, was just as plainly determined to avoid a clash with council.

He declined to comment on the merits or disadvantages of substituting Quadra as a new main north-south traffic artery to the city centre.

Approved Twice

"The council has twice approved in principle the Blanshard Street project, and until council asks me to report on Quadra as an alternative, I am acting on the assumption that Blanshard will go ahead," he said.

Provincial highways engineers, who also declined comment, were nervously eyeing their plans for relocation of the southern tip of the Patricia Bay Highway. Blueprints call for an underpass to avoid intersection with Quadra and relocation to the east to facilitate a Douglas-Blanshard Island Highway intersection.

Ald. Curtis Friday proposed that the plan to extend Blanshard to Douglas be abandoned in favor of an accelerated four-lane program for Quadra.

He said such a move would be cheaper and would eliminate the danger that the Blanshard extension might funnel downtown shoppers to a shopping centre now going up on north Douglas.

Expert Opposed

But an independent traffic expert differed with the plan, saying Quadra can never qualify as an arterial highway and abandonment of the Blanshard plan will have the effect of fostering greater business for the shopping centre at the expense of downtown.

He said widening of Quadra to four lanes will simply make it adequate for its present traffic load and widening beyond four lanes would require the purchase of perhaps $1,000,000 worth of private property.

Quadra cannot be an alternative to Blanshard, he said, because access control has been lost. The street is crisscrossed with secondary arteries and hospital by-roads, commercial zones and private driveways.

Blanshard could be extended to the city boundary through relatively undeveloped territory and access control could be maintained.

Property purchase along the Blanshard right-of-way is estimated at about $300,000.

Quadra Street Bill Refused by B.C.

Provincial highways department has flatly refused its obligation over the widening of Quadra Street, Reeve George Chatterton said last night.

"All they will pay us is $30,000 out of a total debt of $82,089," he said.

A letter from the highways department claimed only $30,000 could be paid "because of many demands from municipalities there is insufficient money in the budget," said the Saanich reeve.

"But," he continued, "in the same mail we got a letter from them demanding Saanich live up to its obligations over repairs to the Gorge bridge."

"On the one hand they want to back out and on the other hand they want us to toe the line."

Saanich had planned to use the $82,089 owed by the provincial government to build sidewalks on both sides of the reconstructed section of Quadra Street, from Cloverdale to Reynolds Road.

"I will warn my council to take into account the government's breach of faith over this when we consider the final widening of Quadra from Reynolds Road to Douglas Street," said Reeve Chatterton.

Liberal

'Two-Party' Race Seen In Election

Monday's byelection will be a "two-party" race," M.L.A. Alan Macfarlane said last night, speaking in support of Liberal candidate David Gross in a campaign meeting at Shawnigan Lake Community Hall.

"In the federal field, in Ottawa, there are really only two parties, and one of those in my humble opinion is on the way to the cleaners," he said.

Neither Social Credit nor the New Party has a chance, he suggested.

Social Credit has "no national policy except perhaps 'funny money,'" said Mr. Macfarlane. Its candidate is running "only to satisfy the ego of the Honorable W. A. C. Bennett, and no doubt his rewards will be forthcoming in the same fashion as those of Steacy and Wicks."

He said the New Party has no name, platform or leader. Despite the fact there are four by-elections across the country, the New Party was able to muster only one candidate, he added.

The candidate "perhaps has a good reason to look for a new job. He and his wife are social workers, and if they were as fed up with the Social Credit handling of the social welfare situation as Ruby McKay was, it is no wonder they want to resign," said the M.L.A. "There appears to be no doubt that this is a two-party race."

Argue Speaks At Shawnigan

CCF Leader Hazen Argue will add his voice to the Esquimalt-Saanich federal byelection campaign tonight at Shawnigan Lake Athletic Hall.

The party leader who has announced he will contest the New Party leadership with Saskatchewan a contender Premier Tommy Douglas will speak on behalf of New Party candidate Glen Hamilton at 8 p.m.

The accident occurred about 11 a.m. At 12:45 p.m. a second city traffic officer, Elmer Hemstad, injured his right ankle in a collision at Pembroke and Quadra.

IN COLLISION

His motorcycle, police said, was in collision with a car driven by a juvenile. The officer was also taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he was treated and released.

One-half hour later Mrs. Dorothy Atherley, 2615 Fernwood, suffered bruises and abrasions when brushed by a parade float and knocked to the street on Princess. She was treated at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

Driver of the float, whose vision was obscured by decorations, was identified as Stanley H. Wait, 5293 Patricia Bay Highway.

Joseph Thomas, 1489 Admirals, was treated for leg injuries at St. Joseph's Hospital and released after running into the path of a car on Government near Fisgard at 1 p.m. Monday. Police said the car driver was Dennis Bright, Comox.

A city youth was injured in the eye by his own golf ball while playing Sunday at Cedar Hill Golf Club.

Royal Birthday Sets Off Boom Year for Tourists

Peter Bruton's Capital Notebook

WELCOME STRANGER: The 21-gun salute to commemorate Queen Victoria's birthday thundered from the Causeway Monday just as the CPR boat from Seattle unloaded its passengers.

"Gee," exclaimed one U.S. tourist to her companion, "do they welcome all tourists this way?"

CANINE CAPERS: Last week Mrs. Juliette Cheover of Campbell River brought down two valuable white Samoyeds for the Vancouver Island Dog Breeders' annual show at Sanscha Hall, Sidney.

She drove up to the hall and took one of the dogs inside, leaving the other in her car. When she returned for the second animal it had gone.

Mrs. Cheover hunted high and low and finally reported the dog as stolen.

That night, weary and exhausted, she returned to the Craigmyre Motel and opened the locked door of the unit.

There sat the missing Samoyed.

Later, as everyone was remarking how clever it was for the dog to find his way back to the motel and climb in an open window, motel owner Jim Eaton interrupted and said: "Clever nothing. He just recognized a good motel."

BRIEF ENCOUNTER: A postcard from world traveller James K. Nesbitt reports from Bombay: "It's a great life, fierce heat, but all very wonderful." The New Party should remove its series of signs at the dangerous Tunnel Hill bend on the Malahat. As matters stand at present it could lead to a serious accident. One Colonist carrier boy has combined business with athletic pleasure. His route takes him by several motels with swimming pools. He has a quick dip every morning.

MAY DAY: Red faces were the order of the day when a shiny new Oldsmobile stalled to the accompaniment of jeers and catcalls towards the end of the parade Monday. What made it a lot worse was the fact that the ancient vintage cars enviously hooped their ancient horns and passed the stalled beauty. One carload of kids was given an odd view of the parade—their father infiltrated into the procession and slowly drove them around the whole parade route, to the cheers of the crowd.

FRUIT COCKTAIL: When Byron Shadd, the happy gardener of Kilgarry Place, saw his neighbor dumping rice and raisins from the bottom of a wine crock among the berry patch the other day, he couldn't resist remarking: "No wonder your raspberry bushes are always loaded!"

STATEMENTS WE DOUBT: Nine out of 10 Hollywood stars use Lux toilet soap.

KNOW-IT-ALLS: A spy phoned to report that Social Credit headquarters in Sidney has a sign reading: "Know Your Candidate."

Your Problems

By Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My husband loves to dance. I don't care for it. An old flame of his (now married) makes a B-line for him whenever they get together and there's music. They dance together all evening. I sit there like a dumb-bunny making small talk with the old flame's husband.

The other night they danced together for three solid hours. Between sets they'd go to the bar and not even return to the table. I got fed up, finally, and walked on to the dance floor and yanked him a little by the necktie. His glasses fell off but they didn't break.

Now he's mad at me and says I'm no lady. How much is a wife supposed to take anyway? Who was wrong?—MELVA

Dear Melva: It sounds like a draw to me. A man shouldn't leave his wife stranded for three hours but you shouldn't have yanked him off the floor. Improve your dancing and reduce your boiling point.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 33 and have been going with a bachelor for five years. Just when I think everything is set and start making plans for our wedding, something happens.

Harry is a genius for getting himself into business deals that keep him broke. The guy is 44, handsome, fascinating, nobody's fool, and we like the same things. He is also a target for every phony who passes through town.

Two years ago when we had our wedding date set he got into a deal with some people who imported semi-precious stones. They were guaranteed to look like diamonds only you had to heat them up every six months or they'd get cloudy. He went for his total savings on that one so we had to postpone the wedding.

Last April I was all set to be a June bride. In May somebody sold Harry a salt mine that belonged to the state of Utah. He was so broke after that deal that I had to lend him money to live on.

He says he loves me but he refuses to get married until he can assume the financial responsibilities of a husband. From the way things are going I'm beginning to wonder if that day will ever come. How much longer do you think I'll have to wait?—BIG PEARL

Dear Big: Probably forever. Some people are afraid of marriage but they don't know it. Their fears are below the conscious level and they keep the truth well hidden—even from themselves.

They make plans, then get themselves into a fix which knocks the plans in the head. When this pattern is repeated over and over, you have a non-marrier on your hands.

Dear Ann: This is a very busy day for me but I can't

MISS KHIN MAY THEIN

Colombo Plan

Petite Young Woman Going Around World

By TERRY FRENCH

"Everyone I have met has been terribly kind and hospitable and I think I am quite used to travelling about through different parts of the country, but I am getting just a little homesick for Burmese food."

These were sentiments expressed by Miss Khin May Thein of Burma.

She is in Victoria on a side trip, part of a four-month stay in Canada, during which she will study public relations methods and procedures under sponsorship of a Colombo Plan Fellowship.

Miss Thein flew from Rangoon to Vancouver, and has been swept off her feet with a round of activities both here and in Vancouver ever since. She has been greeted by government officials, taken to banquets, entertained at dinners and luncheons in people's homes... and, of course, western food has been much in evidence.

"I enjoy western foods," she adds, "for we vary Burmese and English foods at home, but I long for some of my own food, too."

This wish will be fulfilled next week when she returns to Vancouver, for Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Jessup have inited her to dinner... which she will cook.

"They are getting all the things I will need... ginger, garlic, oils, chili, rice and vegetables. I am really looking forward to it."

In spite of her thoughts on food, Miss Thein is not a visitor who is sure that "everything at home is better." She is not that kind of traveller.

Her trip here was prompted by a desire to know more about Canadian ways, so that she would be of greater assistance in her position as public relations officer to the Hon. U. Nu, Prime Minister of Burma, and she is eager to learn and to try new things.

She will spend time in most of the major cities in Eastern Canada, and will probably be assigned to a public relations firm in Ottawa.

While chatting with her, I couldn't help admiring her stunning costume, comprised of a long, draped skirt, called a longyi, and a blouse called an aingyi with cross-over front, simple neckline, and five toggle buttons. She explained to me that one can tell by the design on the longyi the part of Burma from which they come.

In my stocking feet, I stand 3'2" tall, and next to Miss Thein I felt like a giant, and a rather ungainly giant at that.

Of diminutive proportions, she is infinitely dainty and feminine, a trait carefully cultivated and cherished by Burmese women.

While here, she has been staying at the Strathcona Hotel, and was a houseguest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mayhew, Rutland Road.

By the time she returns to Rangoon in January of 1962, she will have travelled right around the world, for after Canada she goes to England, France, Switzerland, then Burma again.

DO 'SLIMMING DIETS' AGE THE COMPLEXION?

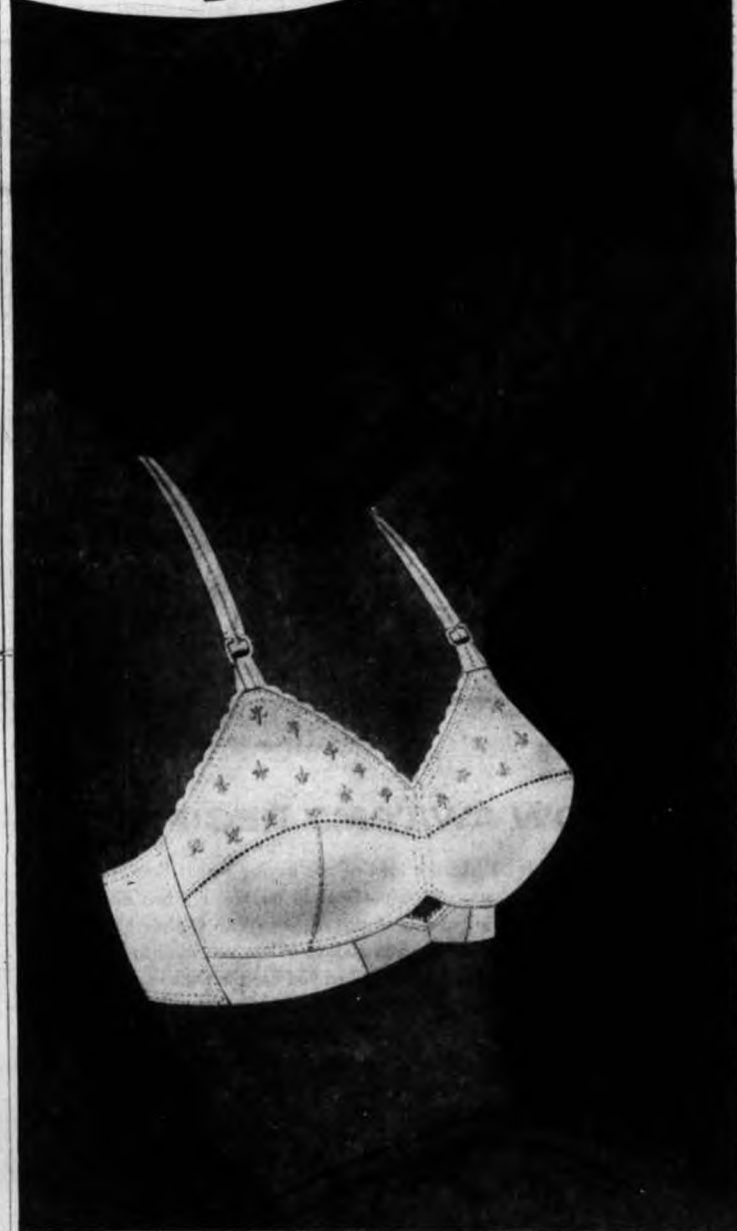

Sometimes it happens! A low-fat diet, combined with a rushed modern life—outdoors in all weathers, indoors in overheated rooms—can lead to a condition of skin dryout. And from this may develop those worrying problems of harsh, flaky patches, little lines, crow's feet. What to do? Use POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM. This famous cream contains Allantoin—a substance that floats off lifeless surface skin cells, speeds deep penetration of Pond's moisturized lanolin. Dried-out, thirsty tissues in the skin's sub-surface are re-vitalized, and, almost overnight, your complexion takes on a softer, smoother, younger look. Use POND'S DRY SKIN CREAM regularly. Buy it in jar or tube, wherever cosmetics are sold.

Beverly Fisher Married In St. Patrick's Church

Father M. J. McNamara said Nuptial Mass in St. Patrick's Church, Oak Bay, when Beverly Jean, daughter of Mrs. Rosalie Fisher, 2632 Scott Street, became the bride of Norman Healey, son of Mrs. Healey of Victoria.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Robert Fisher. Her gown was of peau de soie in egg shell shade, fashioned with long sleeves, Madeira lace appliques and a graceful skirt en train. Her fingertip veil was held by a coronet. Pink roses and lily of the valley were in her bouquet.

Attending the bride were Mrs. R. Briggs, sister of the bride, as matron of honor; Miss Catherine Smith, bridesmaid, both in blue lustre taffeta dresses. They carried yellow rosebud bouquets. Flower girl, Shelley Briggs, niece of the bride, wore a white frock, and carried a basket of flowers. The groom had Mr. Paul Redchurch as best man. Ushers were Mr. Colin Fleck and Mr. Ronald Briggs. A reception was held at the Old Charming Inn, where Mr. Smith proposed the toast to the bride.

For her going-away outfit, the new Mrs. Healey wore a green silk dress with beige, tailored coat and accessories. Her jewelry was a jade pendant, a gift from the groom. They will make their home in Victoria.

Cuban Disaster

All Went Wrong
With Invasion

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen.ators have been told the Central Intelligence Agency spent $45,000,000 training and equipping a 1,500-man guerrilla force never geared for a full-scale invasion of Cuba.

Gen. Lyman Lemnitzer, chairman of the joint chiefs of staff, is reported to have testified before a Senate foreign relations subcommittee that he gave informal approval of military arrangements for an attempt to land the 1,500 at a point where they could join guerrillas operating in the mountains.

CERTAIN CONDITIONS
Lemnitzer was said by committee members to have made it clear that he specified the attempt would be successful only if certain conditions were met.

These included the destruction of Fidel Castro's regular air force, plus realization of the CIA's prediction that anti-Castro groups would rally to help the invaders escape to the mountains when they came ashore.

Instead, almost everything went wrong. The invaders' old B-26 bombers did not bomb the airfields. In fact, the bombers reached Cuba in broad daylight when Castro's armed T-33 trainers already were in the air.

Castro knew in advance of the landing site and had massed his forces, equipped with tanks and artillery, to greet the incoming guerrillas. His more modern planes shot down several of the bombers, leaving the anti-Castro troops without air cover.

The final disaster was the sinking of an old ship carrying most of their communications equipment and ammunition.

Set of Twins

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The wife of a bricklayer confounded the law of averages by giving birth to her fourth set of twins Saturday. The twins, boys, each weighing more than six pounds, were born to Mrs. Henry Ulrich. They were the 10th and 11th children born to the Ulrichs. The other children are Kathleen and Judith, 13; Suzanne, 12; Sharon, 10; David and Daniel, 6; Mary, 4, and Barbara and Margaret, 3.

U.K. Team Conquers
Peak Near Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (Reuters) — A British expedition has conquered previously unclimbed 25,680-foot Nuptse Peak near Mount Everest, according to a report reaching here Tuesday.

News of the British success came after another message revealed that an expedition originally headed by ailing Sir Edmund Hillary had failed in an attempt to scale 27,790-foot Makalu peak without oxygen.

Dennis Davis of the British expedition and a Sherpa guide named Tashi made the successful ascent to the blade-sharp crest of Nuptse May 16.

The message from the Hillary expedition said the final team got "within a few feet" of the summit before turning back.

Three members of the expedition were taken ill on the slopes of Makalu. They included Dr. Michael Ward of London, who took over the leadership when Hillary suffered a slight stroke.

The expedition was trying to scale the peak—the fifth highest in the world—without using oxygen equipment. Makalu was first climbed by a French team, using oxygen, five years ago.

CBC Artists Pick Up
$20,000 Pay Packets

OTTAWA (CP) — Forty-four CBC performers and artists received more than $20,000 each in 1958 for working for the corporation, the Commons Broadcasting committee was told Tuesday.

A statement provided by president J. Alphonse Ouellet showed that another 48 received between $14,000 and $20,000 in the year, and that 109 persons were paid between $10,000 and $14,000.

The statement, covering TV and radio interviews, musicians, actors, writers and others not full-time employees of the CBC, indicated that the top payment was close to $34,000.

It showed that seven persons were in the $28,000 to $34,000 bracket. Names were not given.

'Nothing for B.C.' In Tax Program

The federal government's tax equalization formula provides for payment of $71,875,000 to Quebec—"not one cent for B.C.," George Hahn, Social Credit candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich by-election, told a meeting at Brentwood Women's Institute last night.

Pushing his campaign for a "representative provincial voice in Ottawa," Mr. Hahn cited lack of co-operation in the field of water power, bridges and ferry transport as examples of Ottawa's discrimination against this province.

The Upper House voted 35 to 26 against giving second reading to the bill introduced by Senator David Croll (L.-Ontario).

Croll said the defeat was no surprise, due to "a very heavy lobby by the automobile companies and financial institutions."

Garden Notes

Read by Deck Chair

By M. V. CHENUT, FRHS

Ever since May 1, a traditional moving day, I have been receiving an ever-increasing number of letters from folks who have moved into new homes or old homes with neglected gardens, asking what they should do about the grounds.

I think it is best in such cases to take it easy and do nothing whatever about the permanent plantings now. Shrubs and trees and herbaceous perennials hung in any old how are not likely to thrive and the summer can be better spent in the eradication of weeds and the improvement of the soil. Some lazy deck-chair sessions spent in browsing through nursery catalogues will help one's ideas to jell and, in the meantime, the place can be prettied up by slapping in some annual bedding plants.

As I have mentioned before, my favorite picture book for studying the appearance of shrubs and perennial flowers is the big 230-page catalogue put out by Wayside Gardens, Mentor, Ohio. The book cost a U.S. dollar but is well worth the money as a thought-starter and for the excellent color photography, and most of the plants illustrated can be purchased from local nurseries.

In the eradication of weeds, brambles and weed grasses from a neglected place, two chemical aids are essential. Dowpon will kill any member of the grass family neatly and effectively while a mixture of 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T, sold under such names as Brushkill and Brushbane, will take care of almost everything else. The two are compatible and can be mixed and applied where a clean sweep of all plant life is desired, and it is safe to plant up the cleared ground six weeks after application.

The thing to remember in using these vegetation killers is that they must be absorbed through the leaves before they can reach and kill the roots. It isn't any good cutting down brambles, unwanted trees, thistles or couch grass first, for the undamaged roots will only sprout again. Allow your victims to grow and leaf out fully, then slip them their Mickey Finn. Trees especially will push up unwanted suckers all over the place if cut down before the roots have been killed.

I have a strong prejudice against the use of a sprayer in applying weed-killers, for a fine misty spray is almost sure to drift down wind and poison some desirable plant — perhaps in your neighbor's garden. Besides, it is such a beast of a job trying to decontaminate the sprayer after such use.

It is a much better plan to apply the chemical in coarse droplets and with the applicator held close to the ground to lessen the possibility of drift.

An ordinary watering can could be used, but here again we have the problem of decontaminating it with hot washing soda solution and repeated rinsing. Instead, I suggest the purchase of an inexpensive plastic nozzle that converts an ordinary one-gallon vinegar jug into an applicator; nozzle and jug can be reserved solely for weedkiller solutions, so no decontamination is necessary.

To treat large weeds and clumps of weed grasses growing close by desirable plants, use a paint brush or an old sponge and try to avoid any excess drip to the ground.

John Crosby

Critic at Large

Sure to Make You Restive

This month's Esquire opens with an immensely readable story by Malcolm Muggeridge called "The Temptation of Sir Winston Churchill." It is a candid glimpse of the growing senility of a great man, full of the most offhand critical honesty that Americans find so shocking, and it will almost certainly get a blizzard of denunciatory mail, Americans being far more sentimental about Churchill than are the English.

I bring it up because it is the sort of thing Esquire is doing, flying boldly in the face of its readers' displeasure and the let's-at-all-costs-be-lovable mystique that has gripped all the other mass magazines. Some years ago, after Sen. McCarthy expired, Esquire published an illuminating article by Richard Rovere about the last days of the junior senator from Wisconsin—dispassionate, clinical, searching, and I imagine totally infuriating to the McCarthy mob—which taught me more about the true workings of democracy than anything I had read in years.

I don't you to get the idea that Esquire succeeds in infuriating only the other guy. It sometimes succeeds in infuriating me. That's what I like about it. It's writing heady, challenging, irritating, alive journalism and Arnold Gingrich, its publisher, has been editing by the seat of his pants, not paying any attention to those reader surveys which so enchant (or intimidate) the other mass magazines.

Following Mr. Muggeridge's piece is one by Sybille Bedford from her book, "The Faces of Justice," about justice—or rather the lack of it—in the French lower courts and that, I guarantee, will make you thoroughly restive, no matter what your political complexion. It's written with a good hearted, easy cynicism without a trace of the professional "Let's Do Something About It Now" school of editorial reprobation. Very interesting.

Now, let's see what else? Well, Dorothy Parker still writes book reviews that are brief, felicitous and full of more than an echo of the Dorothy Parker of the 20s. I get the feeling she's read the books and I'm not at all sure that the other reviewers really do. On the debit side, there are some perfectly ordinary magazine article type magazine articles on sailboat racing and how to smoke a pipe.

But then you come across "Social Climbing and How" by Gore Vidal and right away you are brought up short. No one should write articles called "Social Climbing and How." I mean one doesn't! Does one? So you read on.

"I suggest we take a cold look at the snobs about us and examine the art of the social climber, his tricks and devices, recalling with tolerance that grand old climber (transatlantic division) Harry James who once remarked with a certain edge, that the pursuit of a social career was as reasonable an aim in life as any other." Now, how can you resist a piece that opens with such candor?

The nice thing about Esquire is its insistence on a certain kind of world and its assumption that we're all a part of that world. It has tone, this magazine. Of course, I would be the first to say that it doesn't always bring it off. There's a picture essay called "How to Tell a Celebrity," which gives the magazine a chance to display Nancy Kovack, mostly undressed and mugging.

Not the best but perhaps the most typical piece in this month's Esquire is one called "Scouting Report on the Avant Garde." "Don't look forward; the avant garde is already here," says the subtitle. And Esquire assumes you're a part of the avant garde—or otherwise, what are you doing reading the magazine?

This is mavelously flattering and it seems to be working with a vast number of readers.

Hollywood Today

By Sheila Graham

Olivier's in the Middle

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Sir Laurence Olivier is right in the middle, with Hal Wallis and Warners both claiming they have the film rights to his very successful "Becket" play. There may be a lawsuit, although there is some talk of arbitration. Either way, Sir Larry will star in the movie and Peter Glenville will repeat as director. But first, Olivier has a spot of honeymooning to do with wife Joan Plowright, after which he goes to Jordan for four weeks in "Lawrence of Arabia."

Mrs. Aldous Huxley's comment when friends commiserated her on the loss of her home in the recent Hollywood Hills fire: "Yes, but we lost things, not people."

Norma Shearer, with pinkish colored hair, was dining at Trader Vic's with husband Marty Aronoff the other eve. The light hair is perhaps more youthful looking, but I prefer Miss Shearer as a brunette.

Sir Winston Churchill has an engagement to visit a London suburb to watch daughter Sarah as Rosalind in "As You Like It." In all Sarah's troubles, her distinguished parents have been very much in her corner.

Piper Laurie, who left an ingenue career in Hollywood for New York films and television, may be coming back here for the Bette Davis role in Jerry Wald's revival of the Somerset Maugham story, "Of Human Bondage." This story made a star of Miss Davis. It could do the same for Piper.

Bob Hope and Bing Crosby got the idea of making "Road to Hong Kong" in London this July "from a Fortune Cookie." Bob, with several TV shows on his agenda for next season, will star in three films during the next 12 months—currently, "Bachelor in Paradise" at Metro with Lana Turner. Then, in January, "Critic's Choice" at Warners with Lucille Ball. This is Robert's idea of taking it easy.

Errol Flynn's son Sean never wears socks, and his friends are telling him there are some occasions when he should—at parties, for instance. Sean's closest friend is also the son of a late great—Max Baer Jr. Max wears socks, but usually goes around with his shirt open to the waist. Okay, so it's tough to be colorful these days in Hollywood.

Durante 'Outa Mind'

Marge Won't Move

Jimmy Has Double Home Trouble

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Has marriage changed Jimmy Durante? No. He is still his same suave, lovable, giggling self. "I ain't changed none," he commented over breakfast. "I still do the same things I used to. The only difference now is I got me two houses. Two houses! I must be outa my mind!"

HIS AND HER'S

This required explaining. When Jimmy married his long-time girl friend Marge Little last December he had a house and she had a house.

Hers was a spanking modern up in the hills, his a tile-roof traditional in the heart of Beverly Hills. They still have them: his and hers, each with a swimming pool.

NO MUCH JUNK

"It's the only thing we argue about," Jimmy lamented. "She don't want to move out her place. I can't move all my junk up dere. What am I goin' to do with all the plaques, all the photographs I got? I got no place to put 'em."

It's a standoff. Every morning, Jimmy leaves the hilltop home for the 10-minute drive to the Beverly Drive house. The maid serves him breakfast and he conducts business from the house. After a day of appointments and rehearsals, he returns to the home on the hill.

FORCE OF HABIT

"Sometimes I come down here for a shower," Jimmy related. "That makes Marge mad. 'Why can't you take one here?,' she sez. I happen to like the shower in this house. I'm used to it."

Jimmy has been travelling during most of his marriage, into the night. Even during another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was promptly relieved. And while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—the improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of even 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anal lotions or treatments of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) — the discovery of a famous scientific institute. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissues on all parts of the body.

This new healing substance is offered in suppository or enema form called Preparation H. Ask for individually sealed convenient Preparation H Suppositories or Preparation H enema with special applicator. Preparation H is sold at all drug stores. Satisfaction guaranteed or money refunded.

Siebner Big Hit in Seattle

Victoria Artist Sells Six Abstract Figure Forms

Twenty of his abstractionist figure works are on display with 15 canvases by Vancouver artist John Korner at the Seligman Gallery in Seattle from May 6 to 30.

Mr. Siebner said six of his paintings were sold during the first week, including "Queen," a semi-abstract, sitting female form which is a "symbol of security, leadership, like a big mother."

"Queen" was purchased by Dr. Richard Fuller, director of the Seattle Art Museum, to be placed in the museum's permanent collection.

It was the second abstract painting purchased from the local artist by the Seattle Art Museum. The first one was "Mark Tobey, the White Writer," purchased in November, 1957.

Mr. Siebner said his current exhibit in Seattle is made up of abstractionist figure works done in oil, casein and wax.

'Canada Can't Help Joining Americas'

REGINA (CP) — Canada should belong to the Organization of American States, Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said yesterday in an interview.

He was commenting on President John Kennedy's suggestion in Ottawa last week that Canada might join the organization.

"As part of the Western hemisphere, I don't see how Canada can stay out of the O.A.S.," the premier said.

"Canada might exercise a very useful influence," he said. Mr. Douglas said he would not like to see the O.A.S. become an independent military alliance. On the other hand, he said the organization could be useful as a regional defence organization within the United Nations.

Firefighters Continue Peace River Battle

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Workers Tuesday night continued a struggle for control of a 23,000-acre forest fire, the first major outbreak of the season in the tinder-dry Peace River region.

With eight tractors, the firefighters earlier managed to contain the blaze at Stewart Lake, about 40 miles west of Dawson Creek.

Twenty-six blazes were reported in the Prince George forest district, 23 of them in the South Peace River area.

Estimates are that the Stewart Lake blaze has so far destroyed about 1,000 acres of saleable timber.

NO NEED

Other blazes were in the Chetwynd and Fort St. John areas.

Forestry officials said so far there is no need to call in water bombers, and no need for extra personnel.

The province's four other forest districts have 25 fires, none of which is considered serious.

Fifty-degree temperatures and rain Monday eliminated the hazard in the immediate Prince George area, the south-

Toronto Gets Sunday Films

TORONTO (CP) — Sunday movies were approved by city council Tuesday, six months after they received the support of a majority of city voters.

The legislation, which takes effect Monday, also permits burlesque, concerts and lectures.

Problem Patients

Are Dental Cases Mental Cases?

TORONTO (CP) — People who visit dentists often really mouth and teeth." Noting that modern medicine recognizes at least 50 per cent of all diseases are psychosomatic, Dr. Moses said dentists often accept responsibility for a physical condition when the real cause is a psychological disturbance.

Dr. Moses said most denture problem patients want help from a dentist in the same manner as a child requests help from a parent.

"My patient who pitched a partial denture into the Rideau Canal could have been rejecting his previous dentist as a poor father substitute for all I know," he said.

Sales-Dollar Survey

Profit in Canada At 13-Year Low

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian manufacturers in 1960 made an average profit of 4.4 cents on each dollar of goods they sold, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association says in an annual survey.

This is the lowest sales-dollar profit in the 13 years in which the survey has been made. It is seven-tenths of a cent less than in 1959 and 1.1 cents lower than the 1948-50 average.

The survey covered 1,006 companies with net sales of $9,716,107,000, with 469,390 employees and 543,108 shareholders. Total net worth of the companies, including capital stock, retained earnings, surplus and reserves, was $6,279,333,000. Profit as a percentage of net worth was 7.3 per cent.

Indians Continue to Spurn Chance of Full Citizenship

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Indians have spurned the option of full citizenship in the past and seem likely to continue that course, the parliamentary committee on Indian affairs was told yesterday.

Enfranchisement — the assumption of privileges and obligations of full citizenship — attracted only 151 applications among the 179,009 Indians in the last fiscal year and 91 were approved, reported L. L. Brown of the Indian Affairs Branch. He suggested to the joint Senate-Commons committee that there is little real inducement to change.

Early legislation clearly presumed that enfranchisement was the door to Indian integration with Canada's non-Indian population. Mr. Brown said, but only 182 Indians became full citizens from 1876 to 1918 and only 4,000 between 1876 and 1948.

RETENTION ADVOCATED

It doesn't seem likely that enfranchisement "will be the door to integration in the future to any greater degree than has been true in the past," said Mr. Brown, executive assistant to the Indian Affairs Branch Director.

But he said he believes it should be retained — if not in its present form.

It would not be democratic to deny Indians the right to change their status, for one thing, and it might prove increasingly attractive to whole bands so that they could acquire full ownership of their land — now held in trust by the Crown — and full management of their affairs.

Ben-Gurion Due Today In Ottawa

OTTAWA (UPI)—Israeli Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion arrives here today on his first visit to Canada.

He will spend two days here as a state visitor and two more days on a private visit in Montreal and Quebec City before going to the United States.

He and his party will be met by Prime Minister John Diefenbaker, Trade Minister George Hees, diplomatic and government officials.

Talks between Diefenbaker and Ben-Gurion were expected to centre mainly on the Middle East, with the Israeli leader said ready to present U.A.R. rearmament as a threat to world peace.

Green Says:

Canada Leads World

Canada's position in the world today is higher than at any other time in history, External Affairs Minister Howard Green told more than 200 at Lansdowne Junior High School last night.

"Canada has taken the lead in promoting disarmament, it's recognized all over the world that Canada is the leader," he said. "It was therefore surprising when I came to Esquimalt-Saanich and found that the Liberal candidate is saying his group will bring peace to the world."

TAGGING ALONG

Mr. Green said the federal Conservative government "has been doing everything" and the Liberals have just been tagging along.

He was speaking in support of Conservative candidate George Chatterton.

OPPOSED TESTING

The external affairs minister said his government has consistently opposed any more testing of nuclear weapons in the world and because of this had been criticized and ridiculed in the Commons by Liberal leader Lester Pearson and former health minister Paul Martin.

During his hour-long speech Mr. Green reviewed the accomplishments of the federal government since taking office in 1957 at home and abroad.

GREAT DEAL

"The government has done a great deal and can do a great deal more," he said. "I don't think we deserve to be slapped down by the people of Esquimalt-Saanich."

Mr. Green said Canada had no intention of being dominated by the U.S.

OVERSHADOWED

"We have always been overshadowed by the U.S. but when it comes to a decision affecting Canada being made in a head office in New York or San Francisco we think it is time to draw the line," he said.

"You never hear any talk like that from the Liberals."

AT ALL TIMES

"We believe this is one problem Canadians must face at all times," said the federal minister, adding that Canada must have control over its own affairs at all times if it were ever to become a great nation.

For much of his speech Mr. Green spoke of actions taken by the federal government to create employment and to bolster the economy of the nation.

PAST YEAR

He said that for the past year Opposition Leader Pearson, Mr. Martin, Lionel Chevrier and J. W. Pickersgill—"the four relics of the old Liberal regime, we call them the Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse"—had been ringing the changes on unemployment.

"When the unemployment figures go up we see great glee on the faces of the Four Horsemen," he said. "They are trying to make unemployment a sort of political pottlach. You'll see some more when Mr. Pearson talks in Victoria Wednesday."

EVER SINCE

He said that when the Conservatives won the 1957 election they found a report given the Liberals by their own officials that an unemployment crisis was about to hit Canada "and we have been struggling with it ever since."

"In every single case the Liberals, these Four Horsemen, have ridiculed everything we have done," said Mr. Green. "Ask Mr. Pearson why he doesn't recommend something big that can be done."

GOOD SCHEME

"If he puts up a good scheme we will take it before he can say Jack Robinson," he promised.

Mr. Green hit out at both the Social Credit and CCF parties, charging that Premier Bennett had personally hand-picked Social Credit candidate George Hahn and that Canada could never be built into a great nation under socialism.

LONG STEP

"This riding would be taking a long step backwards if it elected a socialist," he said. "A lot of eyebrows would be lifted across Canada if this riding—the riding of George Pearkes—elected a socialist."

"People in the east would be more convinced than ever that everybody out here is crazy," he added.

Ottawa 'Fed Up' —Green

Ottawa is "fed up" with the provincial government approach of attacking it at every turn, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said last night.

He accused the B.C. government of throwing roadblock after roadblock into Ottawa over the proposed Columbia River power development.

He said Ottawa would still try to co-operate with B.C. on the Columbia but "we're pretty fed up."

Did This Elephant
See Pink People?

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI)—Queen Tut, a three and one-half ton elephant, may have seen pink people.

Caretakers at Forest Park Zoo in Fort Worth, found a man giving the beast a bucket of beer. He was taken to jail and charged with malicious mischief.

Lawrence Curtis, director of the zoo, said he didn't know if the beer would have any effect on Queen Tut, but he had handlers give her several gallons of black coffee just to be safe. "It's pretty hard to determine if it made her drunk," Curtis said. "Did you ever try to make an elephant walk a straight line?"

Negroes Plan
Next Assault
On Mississippi

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI)—Negro leaders in Alabama's riot-scarred capital vowed Tuesday the next target of inter-racial Freedom Riders will be Mississippi—the hard-core centre of segregation in the South.

Mississippi Gov. Ross Barnett promptly wired U.S. Attorney-General Robert Kennedy to "advise the agitators to stay out."

EVIL PLANN'

Barnett said any who enter the state will be escorted out without stopping. The white citizens council urged the Mississippi public "not to co-operate with the outside agitators in their evil plans to create racial violence in Mississippi."

'NOT ASKED'

Byron "Whizzer" White, the U.S. attorney-general's chief aide on the scene here, said U.S. marshals dispatched to Montgomery to control rioting "have not been asked to escort them (the Freedom Riders) to Mississippi. I expect the law enforcement officers of the state of Mississippi to be able to handle their own affairs."

ASSAULT PLANNED

It was announced in Atlanta by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference that "machinery has been started for mobilizing an intensified, large-scale assault on segregation in the hard-core states of the South."

The SCLC said a "co-ordinating committee" has been set up in Montgomery to direct "freedom ride" activities throughout the nation in an assault on segregation in bus terminals and on the highways. It was the "freedom ride" by 21 white and Negro students that touched off bloody battles in Montgomery Saturday.

CITY QUIET

In Montgomery itself, things were quiet yesterday. Gov. John Patterson again accused the Kennedy administration of "supporting and en-

Quake

Aegean

ATHENS (UPI)—An earthquake apparently centered under the Aegean Sea smashed hundreds of homes in southwest Turkey and the Dodecanese Islands yesterday. No casualties were reported.

The quake hit the area southeast of Athens just before dawn and sent thousands of residents and tourists fleeing into the streets as buildings crashed. The tremor toppled the steeple of the Cathedral of Rhodes.

HOUSES RUINED

Reports from Izmir said hundreds of houses at Marmaris, Ulad and Milas on the southwestern coast of Turkey were destroyed.

The seismographs at Istanbul Technical University were knocked out, making it difficult to assess the extent of the damage. The observatory at Basel, Switzerland, registered a "strong" earthquake somewhere in Turkey.

King Paul of Greece and Britain's Duke and Duchess of Gloucester were aboard a yacht anchored off the Isle of Rhodes at the time the tremors were reported. A spokesman said the quake was not felt aboard the yacht.

'Don't Let Us Get Soft on Hanging' Protect Society, Not the Criminal

OTTAWA (CP)—"Don't let us get chicken," Hon. Earl Rowe said Tuesday night in the Commons during debate on a government bill abolishing the death penalty for unpremeditated murder.

The veteran Progressive Conservative for Dufferin-Simcoe

added, "don't let us get soft. We are not here to protect the criminal but society." (See page 5.)

Mr. Rowe said he wondered whether the Commons was being carried away by sentimentality.

"I am more concerned with the death of a lovely child or a mother than with all the criminals who have died on the gallows," he said.

"In the twilight of my career, I'd shudder if I cast my vote for total abolition of the death penalty."

Nobody could tell him that hanging was not a greater deterrent to murder than a prison sentence which might end in as little as 12 years.

Scores of little girls had been raped and murdered, small boys killed and bank clerks shot. Thousands of men lay in Flanders fields for fundamental principles. If a few innocent men had been hanged, they had died in a just cause.

Korean Leader
To Tell Story
To Kennedy

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The leader of the military junta that seized power in the Republic of Korea last week, Lt. Gen. Chang Do Yung, announced today he would "leave immediately" for the United States to meet with President John F. Kennedy to explain "the purpose and intent" of the military takeover.

Chang made the announcement at a news conference in the chamber of the National Assembly building, now headquarters for the junta.

"On behalf of the people of the entire Republic of Korea,

I intend to leave for the United States immediately for the purpose of explaining to the people and government of the United States the purpose and intent of our military revolution," Chang said in a short statement.

He said he hoped to explain what the revolution hopes to accomplish and will try to "further strengthen close ties between the Republic of Korea and the United States."

AGREEMENT REJECTED

The announcement was made less than 24 hours after the United Nations command said that the 32-member ruling military junta had turned down a draft agreement reached by United Nations commander-in-chief Gen. Carter B. Magruder and Maj. Gen. Pak Chung H. deputy junta leader, returning the ROK armed forces to complete operational control of Magruder.

Howard Green Discusses Woes of a World Busy with Bitter Cold War

... tensions are relaxing

... no more nuclear tests

... let's think about OAS

No Quick
Ottawa
Decision

By PETER BRITON

The federal government wants to get the feeling of public opinion before deciding whether or not Canada should join the Organization of American States, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said yesterday.

At the same time he denied knowledge of Ottawa reports that Canada was withholding joining the OAS as urged by President Kennedy because of the possibility of Castro-like revolutions in some South American countries in the next few months. (See Page 32.)

'BUT STEP'

Mr. Green made his views known at a press conference here shortly after his arrival yesterday afternoon.

Joining the OAS, he said, would be a big step for Canada to take in foreign affairs.

"I think the Canadian people should be given some time to discuss this question," said Mr. Green. "A decision will not be made for some time."

AGAINST A TEST

Mr. Green also said:

- He is strongly opposed to further nuclear tests.
- Canada is doing everything it can to speed up disarmament yet at the same time is keeping up its defence.
- There has been quite a lot of relaxation in world tension in recent months.
- He does not know what the final implications of the Korean revolt will be.

CHANCE IN LAOS

● There is a "reasonable chance" of ironing out the difficulties in Laos.

● No decision has yet been made as to whether nuclear weapons should be allowed in Canada.

● Premier Bennett's two proposals for financing the Columbia River power project don't "make sense."

OBSERVER GOING

Mr. Green said Canada would send an observer to the next meeting of the OAS but that "we want to see the people chew it over" before any decision is made as to Canada's participation.

"It's not a question of having a poll," he said. "But we think it is pretty good business to let the country chew it over."

Asked whether he personally favored Canada joining, Mr. Green said:

"It's pretty dangerous for a cabinet minister to have personal opinions."

ENCOURAGED

The external affairs minister said he was very much encouraged by the way in which disarmament talks were going and said he genuinely believed that the Americans were cutting international tensions.

"There's been quite a relaxation in tensions during the past few months," he said.

Seek UN Session
On Riots in Angola

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—African and Asian nations will demand a United Nations Security Council meeting on Portuguese Angola, a high Asian source said Tuesday.

Reports of thousands of casualties in clashes between Portuguese authorities and Angolans prompted the move for council action, the source added.

In Lisbon, Portugal continued a buildup of arms and men in the West African territory of Angola in an attempt to crush a three-month revolt there.

The cargo ship Luanda prepared to sail with arms and military vehicles to reinforce army units. Reliable sources said the liner Nyasa would leave Sunday with more than 1,000 troops.

The Soviet Union renewed its support for the dissident Congolese government of Antoine Gizenga and its demand for the reconvening of the Congo's parliament under protection of friendly United Nations troops.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian A. Zorin said he would demand security council action if any obstacles arose to the parliamentary meetings announced by Gizenga, political heir to the late leftist premier Patrice Lumumba.

Legion Asks Queen
To Halt Beer Raids

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A raid by city police morality officers on a branch of the Royal Canadian Legion here Friday prompted a plea for royal intercession.

William Dennis, president of Byron Branch 533, after consultation with his fellow officers, took the matter to Queen Elizabeth, the patron of the Legion.

He said he telephoned Buckingham Palace and was advised by the Queen's secretary to send a telegram. He was told it would be read and referred with instruction to Governor-General Vanier in Ottawa.

Morality officers carried off 30 cases of beer from the Legion premises in the raid, the third carried out by police in less than two weeks.

The serving of beer by Royal Canadian Legion branches in areas of London annexed Jan. 1 is against the law.

Private Golf Course?
No, a Cow Pasture!

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is Jacqueline Kennedy giving President Kennedy a private golf course all his own for his birthday?

No, said the White House Tuesday. All the president has is four stakes in a cow pasture.

And it isn't costing Mrs. Kennedy a dime.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Hatcher discounted a story that Mrs. Kennedy is preparing to present her husband with an abbreviated golf course on his 44th birthday Monday.

"Ridiculous," Hatcher said, "and untrue."

Hatcher said the president has "not a few balls" in the cow pasture at his 400-acre rented estate, Glen Ora, near Middleburg, Va. But the closest thing to turning it into a golf course has been the placing of four stakes for Kennedy to aim at, he said.

May Queen Crowned

'I'm the Proudest Girl,' Says Nina

Seventeen-year-old Nina Holden officially became Victoria May Queen for 1961 at a colorful ceremony on the steps of the legislative buildings Sunday.

She was crowned by Mayor Percy Scurrell, while trumpeters blew a brassy fanfare. Accompanying Miss Victoria were her two princesses, Marieka Schwagly and Audrey Thornton.

'SMILE HER FORTUNE'

TROPHIES PRESENTED

Miss Holden and her princesses were also presented with silver compacts, gifts of a local jeweler.

Bands Everywhere For Holiday Here

Victoria residents had all the band music they could desire during the weekend festivities.

On Sunday, there were concerts in front of the legislative buildings, in Beacon Hill Park and outside Veterans' Hospital.

On Monday, there were more than 30 bands in the Victoria Day parade and a western-style band playing in Beacon Hill Park during the afternoon.

Fair Prize Up for Sale

Boy Puts College Hopes Before That 'Dream Car'

A youngster who puts an education first will sell the one item most youths dream of—a brand new car.

John Cook, 15, of 6272 Rudolph, who won the main door prize at the Jaycee fair—a 1961 Chevrolet Bel Air sedan—says he'll sell the car and bank the money to pay for his future college education.

"Besides," said John, "I'm too young to drive it anyway."

Both winners of the main prizes at the fair have announced they will take cash instead. William G. Passmore, 3133 Westdowne, who won the $10,000 luxury cruiser, intends to offer the boat for sale. His wife said they "wouldn't be able to run a boat of that size."

Sir. Passmore is a salesman with a stationery firm. Young Cook, a Grade 8 student at Mount Newton High School, said he had no plans on a career yet, but the money from the sale of the car would help finance a university degree.

Black Clouds Mean Red Ink for Indians

Black rain clouds put the Songhees Indian Reserve's two-day festival in the red. Chief John Albany reported yesterday.

Rain washed out gate receipts at Monday's events — "and gate receipts are what we depend on to pay the cost of the whole show," reported Chief Albany.

MEETING SET

The executive of the committee that stages the yearly show will meet Monday to assess the extent of the operating loss and lay plans on methods to avert a similar situation next year.

The rain hit the festival during its big day.

SMALL FUND

"Monday is the big day of the festival, when we go all out," said the chief. "Luckily, we have a small emergency fund set up from previous years and I think we'll get by the deficit by the skin of our teeth."

Despite the small turnout, performers went "all-out" in staging the various events.

CANOE RACE

Highlight of the day was the 11-paddle canoe race, won by the Mermald from Galiano Island, skippered by Johnny Crocker.

Small Festival Fund Wiped Out by Rain

WON TWICE

Winner both Sunday and Monday was the Mermald; in second place was the Shadow, from Chemainus Bay, with Alex Louie as skipper; third was Mount Prevost, Duncan, skippered by Arnold Joe.

Two-paddle canoe race was won by Dale and Harry George of North Vancouver. Second were Wilfred Aleck and Edward Seymour of Chemainus Bay. Third were Marnie Sampson and Lester Edwards, also of Chemainus Bay.

SINGLE PADDLE

Lester Edwards also defeated 13 others to win the single paddle class. Second was Roy Edwards and Dale George was third.

HONGKONG GIRL

Queen of the festival was 18-year-old Jeanette Dick of the Songhees band, who wore full ceremonial dress. Her princess was Karen Williams, 9, daughter of Chief Don Williams of Cole Bay Reserve.

The festival featured Thunderbird and other west coast tribal dances and songs.

Giant Parade Great Fun Despite Rain

Chilly weather and threatening rain failed to drive away crowds as thousands of Victoria residents lined city streets Monday to watch the annual Victoria Day parade.

For two hours and 10 minutes, spectators along the two and a half mile parade route were treated to crashing drums, pretty girls, crazy clowns, floats, military units, horses and vintage cars.

Thirty-two military bands and units comprised the largest military contingent ever seen in the history of the annual parade sponsored by the Greater Victoria Celebrations Association and the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks.

Clowns Keep Crowd Laughing

Mischiefous clowns infiltrated the ranks of marchers and bands, drawing laughs from the crowd. Elaborately decorated floats drew "oohs" and "aahs" from spectators.

Down the street came five sheep herded by two dogs from the Michael Williams' kennels, and young Victoria Art Gallery students wearing surrealist paper mache heads.

Largest of the numerous

band and drill teams from the United States was Bellingham High School's 125-member band and 22-member drill team.

The old-time cars also had a good day. There were 48 cars entered by members of the Vintage Car Club of Canada, including a 1904 Cadillac owned by Quinton MacAdam of Vancouver, which won a prize for the best antique car.

Get Into Education Field Hamilton Urges Ottawa

New Party candidate Glen Hamilton last night urged the federal government to step into the field of education and ease "the present tax burden on landowners."

The candidate in the Esquimalt-Saanich byelection told a meeting at Sooke Community Hall old-line political parties were "indifferent to this pressing need."

He proposed a system of direct federal grants toward

The challenge came from Karm Singh Manak, secretary of the East Indian Citizens Association.

'IRRESPONSIBLE'
He labelled "irresponsible and false" claims by Kamloops and District Labor Council president Dick Larsen that East Indians were being imported for use as "slave labor" in lumber mills.

Mr. Larsen's statement last week was reinforced by Victoria IWA business agent Jack McKenzie who said he had heard rumors of similar conditions in this area.

'KICKED BACK'

Mr. Larsen alleged an organization headed by an East Indian lawyer imported laborers to Canada from India. In return for their fare, the laborers worked for 75 cents an hour in non-union mills, or "kicked back" part of their pay in union mills.

Mr. Manak said the group to which he belonged was the only association "of a non-religious character" and the labor officials' "unsubstantiated charge has cast doubt on our organization."

HALF-TRUTHS
"It is most regrettable that half-truths and false statements have been made by responsible labor leaders about the East Indian labor conditions in the province," said Mr. Manak.

He said he had tried to call the IWA in order to "bring forward the facts" to back up the charge.

LIMIT CITED
He said existing immigration laws limited the number of East Indians coming to this country to about 300 per year.

"The East Indian population of the province does not number more than 4,000. The publicity given by the press (to this charge) is liable to mislead the public as if East Indians are overcrowding the whole industry," he said.

BRING FORTH
"This is not only unfair, but malicious," he added. "This association would heartily and fully co-operate with any inquiry or investigation . . . to bring forward the truth of the matter."

Mr. Manak, who operates a small mill employing about 10 men near Cache Creek, said all but about a dozen Interior East Indian mills operated under union contracts.

JUST BELOW
He said his own mill was non-union but paid rates ranging from $1.60 an hour for lumber piers to $2.75 to $3 for sawyers, just below union rates.

He said his organization would support "any inquiry, since our purpose is to help the people in the East Indian community."

Scurrah, Reeves Open Bus Probe

Technical representatives of the newly-created Greater Victoria Transit Commission sat down yesterday to their first session of scrutinizing a B.C. Electric bus service curtailment proposal.

The commission was set up by the Greater Victoria Inter-municipal committee last Thursday and consists of Mayor Percy Scurrah, chairman; Saanich Reeve George Chatterton, Esquimalt Reeve A. C. Wurtele and Oak Bay Reeve George Murdoch.

EXPLANATIONS
Engineers representing Victoria and Oak Bay, and Saanich Municipal Clerk Gordon Hayward attended yesterday's meeting and heard BCE representatives explain proposed route and schedule changes in detail.

BCE officials have asked the city to render a decision on acceptance or opposition to the plan by the end of this month.

Final approval for the changes must come from the B.C. Public Utilities Commission.

NO NAME
He said the New Party has no name, platform or leader. Despite the fact there are four by-elections across the country, the New Party was able to muster only one candidate, he added.

THE CANDIDATE
The candidate "perhaps has a good reason to look for a new job. He and his wife are social workers, and if they were as fed up with the Social Credit handling of the social welfare situation as Ruby MacKay was, it is no wonder they want to resign," said the MLA.

Blanshard Street Bombshell Appalls City, B.C. Experts

Nervous Engineers Eye Patricia Bay Road Plan

By TERRY HAMMOND

A secretly appalled city engineering staff yesterday maintained still tongues behind stiff upper lips in reaction to Friday's bombshell plan to scrap the $1,000,000 Blanshard Street project.

Simultaneously, equally reticent provincial highways department engineers were taking a puzzled second look at their multi-million-dollar Patricia Bay Highway widening program.

City engineer James Garnett, plainly aghast at Ald. Austin Curtis' proposal that a Quadra

Street widening project be substituted for extension of Blanshard, was just as plainly determined to avoid a clash with council.

He declined to comment on the merits or disadvantages of substituting Quadra as a new main north-south traffic artery to the city centre.

Approved Twice

"The council has twice approved in principle the Blanshard Street project, and until council asks me to report on Quadra as an alternative, I am acting on the assumption that Blanshard will go ahead," he said.

Provincial highways engineers, who also declined comment, were nervously eyeing their plans for relocation of the southern tip of the Patricia Bay Highway. Blueprints call for an underpass to avoid intersection with Quadra and relocation to the east to facilitate a Douglas-Blanshard Island Highway intersection.

Ald. Curtis Friday proposed that the plan to extend Blanshard to Douglas be abandoned in favor of an accelerated four-lane program for Quadra.

He said such a move would be cheaper and would eliminate the danger that the Blanshard extension might funnel downtown shoppers to a shopping centre now going up on north Douglas.

Expert Opposed

But an independent traffic expert differed with the plan, saying Quadra can never qualify as an arterial highway and abandonment of the Blanshard plan will have the effect of fostering greater business for the shipping centre at the expense of downtown.

He said widening of Quadra to four lanes will simply make it adequate for its present traffic load and widening beyond four lanes would require the purchase of perhaps $1,000,000 worth of private property.

Quadra cannot be an alternative to Blanshard, he said, because access control has been lost. The street is crisscrossed with secondary arteries and bounded by school zones, commercial zones and private driveways.

Blanshard could be extended to the city boundary through relatively undeveloped territory and access control could be maintained.

Property purchase along the Blanshard right-of-way is estimated at about $300,000.

Quadra Street Bill Refused by B.C.

Provincial highways department has flatly refused its obligation over the widening of Quadra Street, Saanich Mayor George Chatterton said last night.

"All they will pay us is $30,000 out of a total debt of $82,000," he said.

A letter from the highways department claimed only $30,000 could be paid "because of many demands from municipalities there is insufficient money in the budget," said the Saanich reeve.

"But," he continued, "in the same mail we got a letter from them demanding Saanich live up to its obligations over repairs to the Gorge bridge."

"On the one hand they want to back out and on the other hand they want us to toe the line."

Saanich had planned to use the $82,000 owed by the provincial government to build sidewalks on both sides of the reconstructed section of Quadra Street, from Cloverdale to Reynolds Road.

"I will warn my council to take into account the government's breach of faith over this when we consider the final widening of Quadra from Reynolds Road to Douglas Street," said Reeve Chatterton.

Did the Elephant See Pink People?

FORT WORTH, Texas (UPI)—Queen Tut, a three and one-half ton elephant, may have seen pink people.

Caretakers at Forest Park Zoo in Fort Worth found a man giving the beast a bucket of beer. He was taken to jail and charged with malicious mischief.

Lawrence Curtis, director of the zoo, said he didn't know if the beer would have any effect on Queen Tut, but he had handlers give her several gallons of black coffee just to be safe.

"It's pretty hard to determine if it made her drunk," Curtis said. "Did you ever try to make an elephant walk a straight line?"

Quake Hits Aegean

ATHENS (UPI)—An earthquake apparently centred under the Aegean Sea smashed hundreds of homes in southwest Turkey and the Dodecanese Islands yesterday. No casualties were reported.

The quake hit the area southeast of Athens just before dawn and sent thousands of residents and tourists fleeing into the streets as buildings crashed. The tremor toppled the steeple of the Cathedral of Rhodes.

Reports from Izmir said hundreds of houses at Marmaris, Ulad and Milas on the southwestern coast of Turkey, were destroyed.

The seismographs at Istanbul Technical University were knocked out, making it difficult to assess the extent of the damage. The observatory at Basel, Switzerland, registered a "strong" earthquake somewhere in Turkey.

Korean Leader To Tell Story To Kennedy

SEOUL, Korea (UPI)—The leader of the military junta that seized power in the Republic of Korea last week, Lt. Gen. Chang Do Yung, announced today he would "leave immediately" for the United States to meet with President John F. Kennedy to explain "the purpose and intent" of the military takeover.

Chang made the announcement at a news conference in the chamber of the National Assembly building, now headquarters for the junta.

"On behalf of the people of the entire Republic of Korea,

I intend to leave for the United States immediately for the purpose of explaining to the people and government of the United States the purpose and intent of our military revolution," Chang said in a short statement.

He said he hoped to explain what the revolution hopes to accomplish and will try to "further strengthen close ties between the Republic of Korea and the United States."

AGREEMENT REJECTED

The announcement was made less than 24 hours after the United Nations command said that the 32-member ruling military junta had turned down a draft agreement reached by United Nations commander-in-chief Gen. Carter B. Magruder and Maj. Gen. Pak Chung Hi, deputy junta leader, returning the ROK armed forces to complete operational control of Magruder.

Latin Tie Debated By Green

By PETER BRUTON

The federal government wants to get the feeling of public opinion before deciding whether or not Canada should join the Organization of American States, External Affairs Minister Howard Green said yesterday.

At the same time he denied knowledge of Ottawa reports that Canada was withholding joining the OAS as urged by President Kennedy because of the possibility of Castro-like revolutions in some South American countries in the next few months. (See Page 32.)

'BIG STEP'

Mr. Green made his views known at a press conference here shortly after his arrival yesterday afternoon.

Joining the OAS, he said, would be a big step for Canada to take in foreign affairs.

"I think the Canadian people should be given some time to discuss this question," said Mr. Green. "A decision will not be made for some time."

Mr. Green also said:

● He is strongly opposed to further nuclear tests.

● Canada is doing everything it can to speed up disarmament yet at the same time is keeping up its defence.

● There has been quite a lot of relaxation in world tension in recent months.

● He does not know what the final implications of the Korean revolt will be.

● There is a "reasonable chance" of ironing out the difficulties in Laos.

● No decision has yet been made as to whether nuclear weapons should be allowed on Canadian soil.

● Premier Bennett's two proposals for financing the Columbia River power project don't "make sense."

OBSERVER GOING

Mr. Green said Canada would send an observer to the next meeting of the OAS but that "we want to see the people chew it over" before any decision is made as to Canada's participation.

"It's not a question of having a poll," he said. "But we think it is pretty good business to let the country chew it over."

Asked whether he personally favored Canada joining, Mr. Green said:

"It's pretty dangerous for a cabinet minister to have personal opinions."

ENCOURAGED

The external affairs minister said he was very much encouraged by the way in which disarmament talks were going and said he genuinely believed that the Americans were cutting international tensions.

"There's been quite a relaxation in tensions during the past few months," he said. Referring to the upcoming meeting between President

Africans, Asians Seek UN Session On Riots in Angola

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—African and Asian nations will demand a United Nations Security Council meeting on Portuguese Angola, a high Asian source said Tuesday.

Reports of thousands of casualties in clashes between Portuguese authorities and Angolans prompted the move for council action, the source added.

In Lisbon, Portugal continued a buildup of arms and men in the West African territory of Angola in an attempt to crush a three-month revolt there.

The cargo ship Luanda prepared to sail with arms and military vehicles to reinforce army units. Reliable sources said the liner Nyssa would leave Sunday with more than 1,000 troops.

The Soviet Union renewed its support for the disident Congolese government of Antoine Gizenga and its demand for the reconvening of the Congo's parliament under protection of friendly United Nations troops.

Soviet Ambassador Valerian Zorin said he would demand security council action if any obstacles arose to the parliamentary meetings announced by Gizenga, political heir to the late leftist premier Patrice Lumumba.

Legion Asks Queen To Halt Beer Raids

LONDON, Ont. (CP)—A raid by city police morality officers on a branch of the Royal Canadian Legion here Friday prompted a plea for royal intercession.

William Dennis, president of Byron Branch 533, after consultation with his fellow officers, took the matter to Queen Elizabeth, the patron of the Legion.

He said he telephoned Buckingham Palace and was advised by the Queen's secretary to send a telegram. He was told it would be read and referred with instruction to Governor-General Vanier in Ottawa.

Morality officers carted off 75 cases of beer from the Legion premises in the raid, the third carried out by police in less than two weeks.

The serving of beer by Royal Canadian Legion branches in areas of London annexed Jan. 1 is against the law.

Private Golf Course? No, a Cow Pasture!

WASHINGTON (AP)—Is Jacqueline Kennedy giving President Kennedy a private golf course all his own for his birthday?

No, said the White House Tuesday. All the president has is four stakes in a cow pasture.

And it isn't costing Mrs. Kennedy a dime.

Assistant press secretary Andrew Hatcher discounted a story that Mrs. Kennedy is preparing to present her husband with an abbreviated golf course on his 44th birthday Monday.

"Ridiculous," Hatcher said, "and untrue."

Hatcher said the president has "hit a few balls" in the cow pasture at his 400-acre rented estate, Glen Ora, near Middleburg, Va. But the closest thing to turning it into a golf course has been the placing of four stakes for Kennedy to aim at, he said.

Siebner Big Hit in Seattle

Victoria Artist Sells Six Abstract Figure Forms

Abstract figure forms of Victoria artist Herbert Siebner have been a smash hit at a showing in Seattle.

Twenty of his abstractionist figure works are on display with 15 canvases by Vancouver

artist John Korner at the Seligman Gallery in Seattle from May 6 to 30.

Mr. Siebner said six of his paintings were sold during the first week, including "Queen," a semi-abstract, sitting female form which is a "symbol of security, leadership, like a big mother."

"Queen" was purchased by Dr. Richard Fuller, director of the Seattle Art Museum, to be placed in the museum's permanent collection.

It was the second abstract painting purchased from the local artist by the Seattle Art Museum. The first one was "Mark Tobey, the White Writer," purchased in November, 1957.

Mr. Siebner said his current exhibit in Seattle is made up of abstractionist figure works done in oil, casein and wax.

'Canada Can't Help Joining Americas'

REGINA (CP) — Canada should belong to the Organization of American States, Premier T. C. Douglas of Saskatchewan said yesterday in an interview.

He was commenting on President John Kennedy's suggestion in Ottawa last week that Canada might join the organization.

"As part of the Western hemisphere, I don't see how Canada can stay out of the OAS," the premier said.

"Canada might exercise a very useful influence," he said.

Mr. Douglas said he would not like to see the OAS become an independent military alliance. On the other hand, he said the organization could be useful as a regional defence organization within the United Nations.

Firefighters Continue Peace River Battle

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Workers Tuesday night continued a struggle for control of a 23,000-acre forest fire, the first major outbreak of the season in the tinder-dry Peace River region.

With eight tractors, the firefighters earlier managed to contain the blaze at Stewart Lake, about 40 miles west of Dawson Creek.

Twenty-six blazes were reported in the Prince George forest district, 23 of them in the South Peace River area.

Estimates are that the Stewart Lake blaze has so far destroyed about 1,000 acres of saleable timber.

NO NEED
Other blazes were in the Chetwynd and Fort St. John areas.

Forestry officials said so far there is no need to call in water bombers and no need for extra personnel.

The province's four other forest districts have 25 fires, none of which is considered serious.

Fifty-degree temperatures and rain Monday eliminated the hazard in the immediate Prince George area, the south-

Toronto Gets Sunday Films

TORONTO (CP) — Sunday movies were approved by city council Tuesday, six months after they received the support of a majority of city voters.

The legislation, which takes effect Sunday, also permits burlesque, concerts and lectures.

Problem Patients

Are Dental Cases Mental Cases?

TORONTO (CP) — People who visit dentists often really ought to see a psychiatrist, a Toronto dental surgeon told the Dental Nurses Alumnae Association of Canada Tuesday.

Dr. Charles H. Moses said "from a symbolic standpoint no other portion of the body is as representative as the mouth and teeth."

Noting that modern medicine recognizes at least 50 per cent of all diseases are psychosomatic, Dr. Moses said dentists often accept responsibility for a physical condition when the real cause is a psychological disturbance.

Dr. Moses said most denture problem patients want help from a dentist in the same manner as a child requests help from a parent.

"My patient who pitched a partial denture into the Rideau Canal could have been rejecting his previous dentist as a poor father substitute for all I know," he said.

B.C. Barrowthorner Too Fast for Meal

BOSTON BAR (CP) — John Pacaud, 62, pushing a wheelbarrow from Vancouver to Toronto, whistled through this Fraser Canyon centre Tuesday without a by-your-leave.
Boston Bar is 150 miles east of Vancouver.
"I saw Mr. Pacaud coming and thought I'd stop him to buy his breakfast," said Cog Harrington.
"By the time I reached the street, he was three blocks out of town."

Indians Continue to Spurn Chance of Full Citizenship

OTTAWA (CP) — Canada's Indian Affairs Branch. He suggested to the Joint Senate-Commons committee that there is little real inducement to change.

Early legislation clearly presumed that enfranchisement was the door to Indian integration with Canada's non-Indian population, Mr. Brown said, but only 182 Indians became full citizens from 1876 to 1918 and only 4,000 between 1876 and 1948.

RETENTION ADVOCATED
It doesn't seem likely that enfranchisement "will be the door to integration in the future to any greater degree than has been true in the past," said Mr. Brown, executive assistant to the Indian Affairs Branch Director.

But he said he believes it should be retained if not in its present form.
It would not be democratic to deny Indians the right to change their status, for one thing, and it might prove increasingly attractive to whole bands so that they could acquire full ownership of their land—now held in trust by the Crown—and full management of their affairs.

Sales-Dollar Survey

Profit in Canada At 13-Year Low

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian manufacturers in 1960 made an average profit of 4.4 cents on each dollar of goods they sold, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association says in an annual survey.

This is the lowest sales-dollar profit in the 13 years in which the survey has been made. It is seven-tenths of a cent less than in 1959 and 1.1 cents lower than the 1948-60 average.

The survey covered 1,006 companies with net sales of $9,746,107,000, with 469,390 employees and 543,109 shareholders.

Total net worth of the companies, including capital stock, retained earnings, surplus and reserves, was $6,279,333,000. Profit as a percentage of net worth was 7.3 per cent.
